

LOCAL ROTARIANS TO ATTEND CONVENTION

preparations to attend the convention, and also for post-convention tours of Rotarians from the United States through Mexico and Cuba. This international exchange of visits is one of the striking examples of the world wide fellowship of business and professional men who will meet at the Dallas Rotary convention.

Program of the Week

The convention week program starts with a special service for the visiting Rotarians in the Park Auditorium, Sunday, May 26th. Many of the visitors who are of the clergy have been invited to the pulpits of their denomination. Sunday evening, Edward P. Kimball, Salt Lake City organist, will give a special recital at the Park Auditorium, as part of an impressive sacred concert.

The activities of the convention are centered in Texas State Fair park. The vast exhibition buildings there make it possible to hold general sessions, special assemblies, and entertainment features within the park, undisturbed by downtown traffic and clamor. The Park Stadium will be utilized for a great procession of flags of all the countries in which there are Rotary clubs, each flag borne by a guard of honor dressed to represent the national costume of that country. Five hundred Dallas high school girls are in the cast of this pageant. The amusement park will be the scene of the convention week carnival, with troubadours and fireworks added to the usual diversions.

For Group Assemblies

A group of the open air exhibit buildings will shelter the group assemblies for discussion of club service, community service, and international service problems. Plenary sessions will be held in the Park auditorium. In the Automobile and Manufacturers building, the president's ball, most colorful event of convention week, will be held. There is space on the vast floor of this building for thousands of couples. In the Agriculture building, a staff of clerks will be organized for registration of the Rotarians, and voting booths will be provided there for balloting on international officers.

Close to the entrance of the park, is the House of Friendship, an unique feature of Rotary conventions, for moments of leisure and social gatherings. This is situated in the Exhibition building, in which there are roomy little Spanish bungalows, one for each of the 72 districts in Rotary, so that the visitors from each part of the world will have their own personal rendezvous.

Mrs. Carl McManus who has been of Detroit, Michigan will have charge of the Junior department. Her previous work has been with Junior children and she comes with new ideas and plans for the work here.

Miss Gladys M. Greenlaw, director of Religious Education, will act as principal of the school, assist with the handcraft, and conduct the recreational periods.

Course of Study

The work will be thoroughly religious in character, and taught in accordance with the best methods used in religious and secular education. The curriculum will consist of training in worship, Bible instruction, memory work, story hours, music, handcraft, dramatization, and organized play. This is a Vacation school and as much of the work as possible will be done out of doors with the principles of Christian living underlying all of the activity.

The school is non-sectarian and children of all denominations and creeds are invited to attend. There will be an enrollment fee of one dollar for each child for the five weeks course. Materials used for handcraft may be obtained at cost. The school period will begin June 24th, lasting until July 26th, with morning sessions only. If further information is desired, call H. P. 683.
