Jokes

Bing (after reading death reports):
Did you know that every time I breathe a man dies?
Pang: Why don't you try listering?

A traveler in Scotland recently complained that his plate was damp. This brought the following from his wife:
"Hush, dear, that is your soup."

Hank: "Well, there's one thing good about kleptomaniacs."
Rank: "What's that?"
Hank: "He takes things easy."

Wiggle: "Just imagine! There's a fasting man who has been living for 45 days on water."

Waggle: "That's nothing. My father lived for twenty years on water."

Wiggle: "You don't mean it!"
Waggle: "Sure, he was a sea captain."

Kate: "Do you like tea?"
Cecil: "Yes, but I like the next letter in the alphabet better."

Female: Pardon me, sir, for walking on your feet.
Male: Don't mention it. I walk on them myself.

What makes that baby over at your house cry so much?
Well, if you had all your teeth pulled out and no hair and your legs so weak you couldn't stand up, you would cry too.

I went to a party with Janet,
And met with an awful mishap,
For I awkwardly emptied a cupful
Of chocolate into her lap.

But Janet was cool-though it wasn't—
For none is so tactful as she,
And smiling with perfect composure,
Said sweetly, "The drinks are on me."

Her: "You play baseball? Why, you couldn't catch a chicken."
He: "Why should I? It's a fowl."

Definitions As Seen By a Junior Dust: Mud with the juice squeezed out.
Fan: A thing to brush warmth off with.

Snoring: Letting off sleep.
Bacteria: The back door of a cafeteria.

Visiting Nurse: And do your children use a toothbrush regularly?

Fond Parent: Do them, mum?
First thing when they get up in the morning, it's a race to see which can get the toothbrush first.

Him: When did the dark ages begin?
He: When the lights went out."
