In using the automatic ice boxes for freezing ice cream, we find that we must use a little different process from that used with the ordinary freezer. I am giving here a recipe for Vanilla Ice Cream which I have found to be very satisfactory and which will give a smooth, creamy product.

I have found that a very little gelatine is a help, but only a little should be used. In this recipe I use only one teaspoon, for we do not want a gelatine product for this.

I have also found that cooking the sugar, or at least melting it, is a help; also that substituting part white corn syrup will help to make it creamy.

For this ice cream I also whip the cream, but would not do that when freezing it in the ordinary freezer. I would either add more milk to the cooked part, or add more plain cream.

Vanilla Ice Cream

- 1 cup milk scalded
- 1/2 cup sugar granulated
- 3 tablespoons white corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon flour
- 1 teaspoon gelatine
- 1 tablespoon cold milk
- 1 egg separated
- Few grains of salt
- 1 1/2 pint whipping cream
- 2 teaspoons vanilla.

Scald milk in double boiler, add sugar, flour and syrup mixed together, gradually adding a little of the hot milk and mixing so that it will be smooth. Return to double boiler and cook a minute or two, until slightly thickened.

Pour gradually onto the slightly beaten egg yolk; return to boiler and cook two minutes, stirring constantly to keep it smooth.

Remove from fire, add the salt and the gelatine, which has been soaked for five minutes in the tablespoon of cold milk, stirring until dissolved. Allow to get thoroughly cold.

When cold beat until light, add vanilla and the cream which has been whipped until thick, then beat well together. Fold in the stiffly beaten white of the egg, last, place in freezing unit of ice box and leave for several hours to freeze. This recipe will make one quart of ice cream.

This may be left over night, or even for several days, if kept in the freezing unit.

Arrest Man for Biting Cops Ear, Speeding, Etc.

Rawleigh Horning, 24, of 407 Cory avenue, Waukegan was arrested last week on a charge of speeding, biting a copper's ear and hitting the copper with a hammer.

Rawleigh was taken to the Waukegan police station when Earl Casperson, Zion policeman, arrested him near Beach road for speeding. Rawleigh refused to go to Zion as Casperson obliged and brought him to Waukegan. Later Chief of Police Conrad Brune appeared and took him back to Zion.

Highwood Man Starts Damage Suit in Court

John Feraldo, of Highwood, through his father Joseph, last week filed suit for $10,000 damages against John Fraulini, of Highwood, in circuit court for injuries sustained several weeks ago when Fraulini's car struck the boy, who was riding a bicycle at Green Bay road and Vine avenue, according to Attorney J. A. Miller, counsel for Feraldo.

The petition, signed by 60 residents, was presented to the county superintendent last week by Elmer Beckwith, of Grayslake, who is a school principal.

In the event the project carried at the polls Simpson then would be called upon to set a date for an election of a board of school trustees. The trustees would have the power to ask the public for a bond issue to build a high school.

Grayslake and Round Lake residents have been sending their children to the Warren township high school at Gurnee. Antioch and Libertyville high schools.

Did you ever notice that when folks start out to wish a nasty job on you they always begin by handing you a lot of applesauce about your wonderful executive ability?
