BRIEF NEWS ITEMS

Circuit Clerk L. J. Wilmot played the role of a hero at Gage's lake last Thursday night when he rescued Warren Conover, 17, and Phyllis Thompson, 16, both of Waukegan, from drowning when he discovered them clinging to an overturned speedboat in the middle of the lake, too exhausted to shout for help.

Mrs. Ellen Smith, aged 90 years and well known resident of Waukegan, passed away at the home of her nephew, D. O. Douglas, 1304 Washington street, in that city last week, after an extended illness.

Dr. J. A. Ross of Wauconda was called to Davenport, Ia., recently by the death Friday of his mother, Mrs. William Ross, 83 years old.

A crowd that totaled well over 1,200 attended the annual picnic given by the Fremont Center church in the church yard last week.

Miss Anne Drury, a prominently known resident of Lake county for many years and who has relatives and friends in all parts of Lake county died in the Lake county hospital recently, after many years of illness. She was 70 years of age.

Bert Meva, aged 65 years, and a resident of Mundelein for more than 20 years, died last week in the Lake County hospital, after an illness of long duration.

Foot Freedom

That Nature Intended

FOOT TROUBLES are rarely known to primitive tribes that wear no shoes. Imperfectly fitted footwear is the cause of practically all foot infirmities.

Improper shoes injure the growing foot. Correct fitting gives the foot its natural freedom, prevents ills and promotes the normal healthy growth of bones, blood vessels and nerves.

A child is never permitted to leave our store with shoes that "almost" fit. We consider a sale completed only after perfect fitting is proven through wearing comfort.
