D. A. R. Official Tells of Benefits of Camps For Military Training

Mrs. Eli Dixon, Illinois State Regent of the D. A. R., writes as follows regarding Citizens Military Training camps, and this article is furnished by the local D. A. R. chapter.

It is well known that the Citizens' Military Training camps have been established but a few years. The present formation of these centers, which extend throughout the United States, grew out of the provisions of the National Defense Act of 1920. The early Student camps of Gettysburg in 1913, and the business and professional men's camps, Plattsburg camps, established by the late General Wood, in 1915 were different in character.

An understanding of what these camps will do for our youth in an educational way should be brought to the minds and hearts of every American parent and son.

The training at these camps is intensive. Though extending over a period of four years, it is but one month each summer. During that time such instruction is given as will cause greater respect for authority, growth in patriotism and better citizenship.

President Hoover thinks: "These camps offer an exceptional opportunity to young men of our country for a training which leads to a vigorous health, physically, mentally and morally."

The War Department has full charge and furnishes skilled coaches for every training center. The camps are now in such a stage of efficiency, that Boards of Education are granting credits toward high school graduation for those who enroll.

Former President Coolidge has called these Military Training camps, "Schools of Citizenship." He has said that a young man goes home from his month of free camping experiences with a deeper sense of his civic obligations.

All camps are located on Army Reservations, so that parents, taxpayers and voters, throughout the country have an unusual opportunity by means of visits, to acquaint themselves with the aims and ideals of these camps as carried out by the Army officers in charge.

At the close of the months' training, the youth enrolled at camp will recognize the fact that he has to his credit thirty days well spent, filled with responsibilities and with proof of his own endurance.

Ask $30,000 Damages For Girls' Injuries

Damages totaling $30,000 are asked in two suits filed in the Circuit court Wednesday by the law firm of J. A. Miller of Waukegan, in behalf of Margaret Axt, 15, 111 High street, Highwood, and her sister, Pansy, 13, who were injured in an automobile crash in Highwood, May 20. Louis Mazzetti of 239 Ashland avenue, Highwood, is named as defendant.

Margaret Axt suffered a fractured skull when the Mazzetti car struck a machine in which she was a passenger and which was owned by James Hickey, also of Highwood. The sum of $20,000 is asked in her case and $10,000 in that of her sister who was less seriously hurt.

Collect 22 Samples of Alleged Beer in Raid

George Stried, dry raider for States Attorney A. V. Smith, led his sponge squad through the county last Thursday and came back with 22 samples of beer which are to be analyzed, a half gallon of moon from a place near Ingleside, and half pints of moon from two Fox Lake hotels.

The twenty-two beer samples were taken from places in scattered parts of the county. All of the places were selling the brew as near beer and is near beer, but tests are being made and if any of the samples are found to contain more than the legal percentage of alcohol, the place where the sample was obtained will again be visited by the raiders and arrests made.

Commerce Chamber Meeting Omitted

GRANTS TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER

Judge Shurtleff Gives Petition- ers in Lake Zurich Case First "Break"

A temporary injunction restraining August Froelich and Mrs. Marguerite Pearce from charging fees for the use of the lake at Lake Zurich was granted late last week by Judge E. D. Shurtleff in the circuit court at Belvidere where the case was taken on a change of venue from the circuit court at Waukegan.

The injunction bond was fixed at $5,000 and in case the higher courts uphold Froelich and Mrs. Pearce in their claims, the petitioners for the injunction will be liable to the extent of the losses suffered by the alleged owners of the lake.

Claim of Petitioners

The petitioners claimed that Lake Zurich is meandered and is therefore navigable at law and also set up certain uses to which the lake has been submitted in the past to sustain their claim that it is also navigable in fact. In granting the injunction Judge Shurtleff agreed with the opinion recently handed down on a similar situation at Diamond Lake by Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom.

Froelich and Mrs. Pearce claim that they hold title to the land on which the lake lies and that they have paid taxes on the lake and are heretofore owners of property on which the lake lies.

The basic case on which Supreme court decisions have been rendered in the past was the case of Wilson vs. Van Hesser in which it was held by the Supreme court that Fourth lake was not navigable either in law or in fact and that the owners of the land had a right to bar trespassers from the lake.

Is of Interest

The case is of vital interest to all cottage owners on all the lakes in Lake county as nearly all of the lakes are owned in a similar way and it is possible that should Froelich and Mrs. Pearce be upheld by the higher courts, that the cottagers could be barred from the lakes on which they own property, by the owners of the lakes.

State University Has One of Best Libraries

One of the really great libraries of the world is on the campus of the University of Illinois for the year-around use of more than 14,000 students and 1400 faculty members. All of the sciences, both natural and physical, great masses of cultural literature, ancient and valuable examples of books from every land, master's and doctor's theses from many of the great universities of the country, and innumerable other types of material from which students may get facts upon which to enlarge their scope of knowledge, are represented.
