

Children to Present Worlds Fair Pageant

More than 150 children, ranging in age from two to 18 years, will take part in the Chicago world's fair century of progress pageant to be staged by the Children's Civic theater of Chicago in the auditorium of the navy pier at 2:30 in the afternoon of July 10.

One of the features of the pageant being planned by Miss Margaret Pack of River Forest, dramatic director of the theater, is a reproduction of a street scene from the World's Columbian Exposition of 1883. The actors will be garbed in the costumes of the period, and Russian, German and English dances will be staged.

Styles of various periods will be depicted in a fashion show, and there will be sculpture dances and a dance in which the participants will represent an electric fountain.

Miss Irene Skinner is the general director of the theater, which is staging the pageant, in observance of its thirteenth anniversary.

Unofficial invitations to attend the Century of Progress exposition will be extended to Queen Marie of Roumania and King Alexander of Yugoslavia by John R. Palandech, Chicago newspaper publisher, who is now en route to Europe for a three months'.

Girl Scouts at Hickory Hill Camp

A number of Highland Park Girl Scouts left last Monday for Hickory Hill, the new camp for our girl scouts. This camp is located in Wisconsin, about one hundred miles from Highland Park, and, although in only its first year of operation, is described by those who have seen it as a well-equipped and well-ordered camp, beautifully located.

Funds raised in Highland Park to help equip the camp have provided the hospital tent, which is in charge of a nurse from this city. This assures parents that the girls will be well looked after in the event of illness or accident.

Altogether, Hickory Hill seems to promise a fine vacation for the girl scouts fortunate enough to be able to go there.

Wheeling to Have Big Celebration August 3

Plans are under way by the Wheeling Chamber of Commerce for the second annual Wheeling day to be held Saturday, August 3, 1929. Many fine prizes are to be offered and a day of real fun is promised all those who attend this celebration, so save that date and plan to go to Wheeling.

Secretary Wilbur thinks civilization is built on oil, but maybe it just seems that way because he has noticed some evidence of skidding.—Bethlehem Globe.

St. James Baseball Team Defeats Fort Sheridan & Deerfield

St. James baseball team of Highwood is again hitting a stride that would be envied by the Cubs. On July 4th the boys gave Pete Harder the honor of defeating his former team mates, 3-1. Pete felt so good that he didn't even want Deerfield to score, but they did manage to sneak over one run. Harder allowed only five scattered hits and struck out fourteen.

Last Sunday, Fort Sheridan arrived at Highwood all set to smother the St. James, but went home very much disappointed. The score was 4-3 in favor of St. James. John Ariano started the game for the local boys and pitched good ball until the fifth inning. In that stage of the game he was relieved by Lenzini, who kept the soldiers waving at his benders until the final out. Ariano could have finished the game, but he has had such a long rest it did not seem wise to have him work the entire game.

All the boys played good ball and the honors were divided. Fort Sheridan craved revenge and will play a return game at Highwood field next Sunday, July 4th. The St. James club is composed of former Deerfield players, and has been organized two years. Last year they finished with eleven wins and three defeats. So far this year, they have won seven and lost one. Most of the games are played at the Highwood field, and games are called at 3 p. m. Anyone liking baseball will find real enjoyment in watching the St. James club.

Don't forget—Fort Sheridan, July 14th—Lake Forest, July 21st. Both games at Highwood field.

J. B. Greenfield & Co. Move Into New Quar- ters; Straus Building

The J. B. Greenfield and company, 310 South Michigan avenue, long established on La Salle street, recently moved to its larger and commodious offices in the Straus building. As well as the Chicago office, this concern maintains fourteen offices in other cities in Illinois and Michigan.

The J. B. Greenfield organization specializes in fixed investment trust certificates of established reputation. The leader at this time is Trustee Standard Oil shares, which is founded upon securities of thirty-one leading dividend paying Standard Oil companies. As all of these underlying securities are listed on the New York Stock Exchange, ready marketability is maintained at all times. The price is governed by daily New York market quotations.

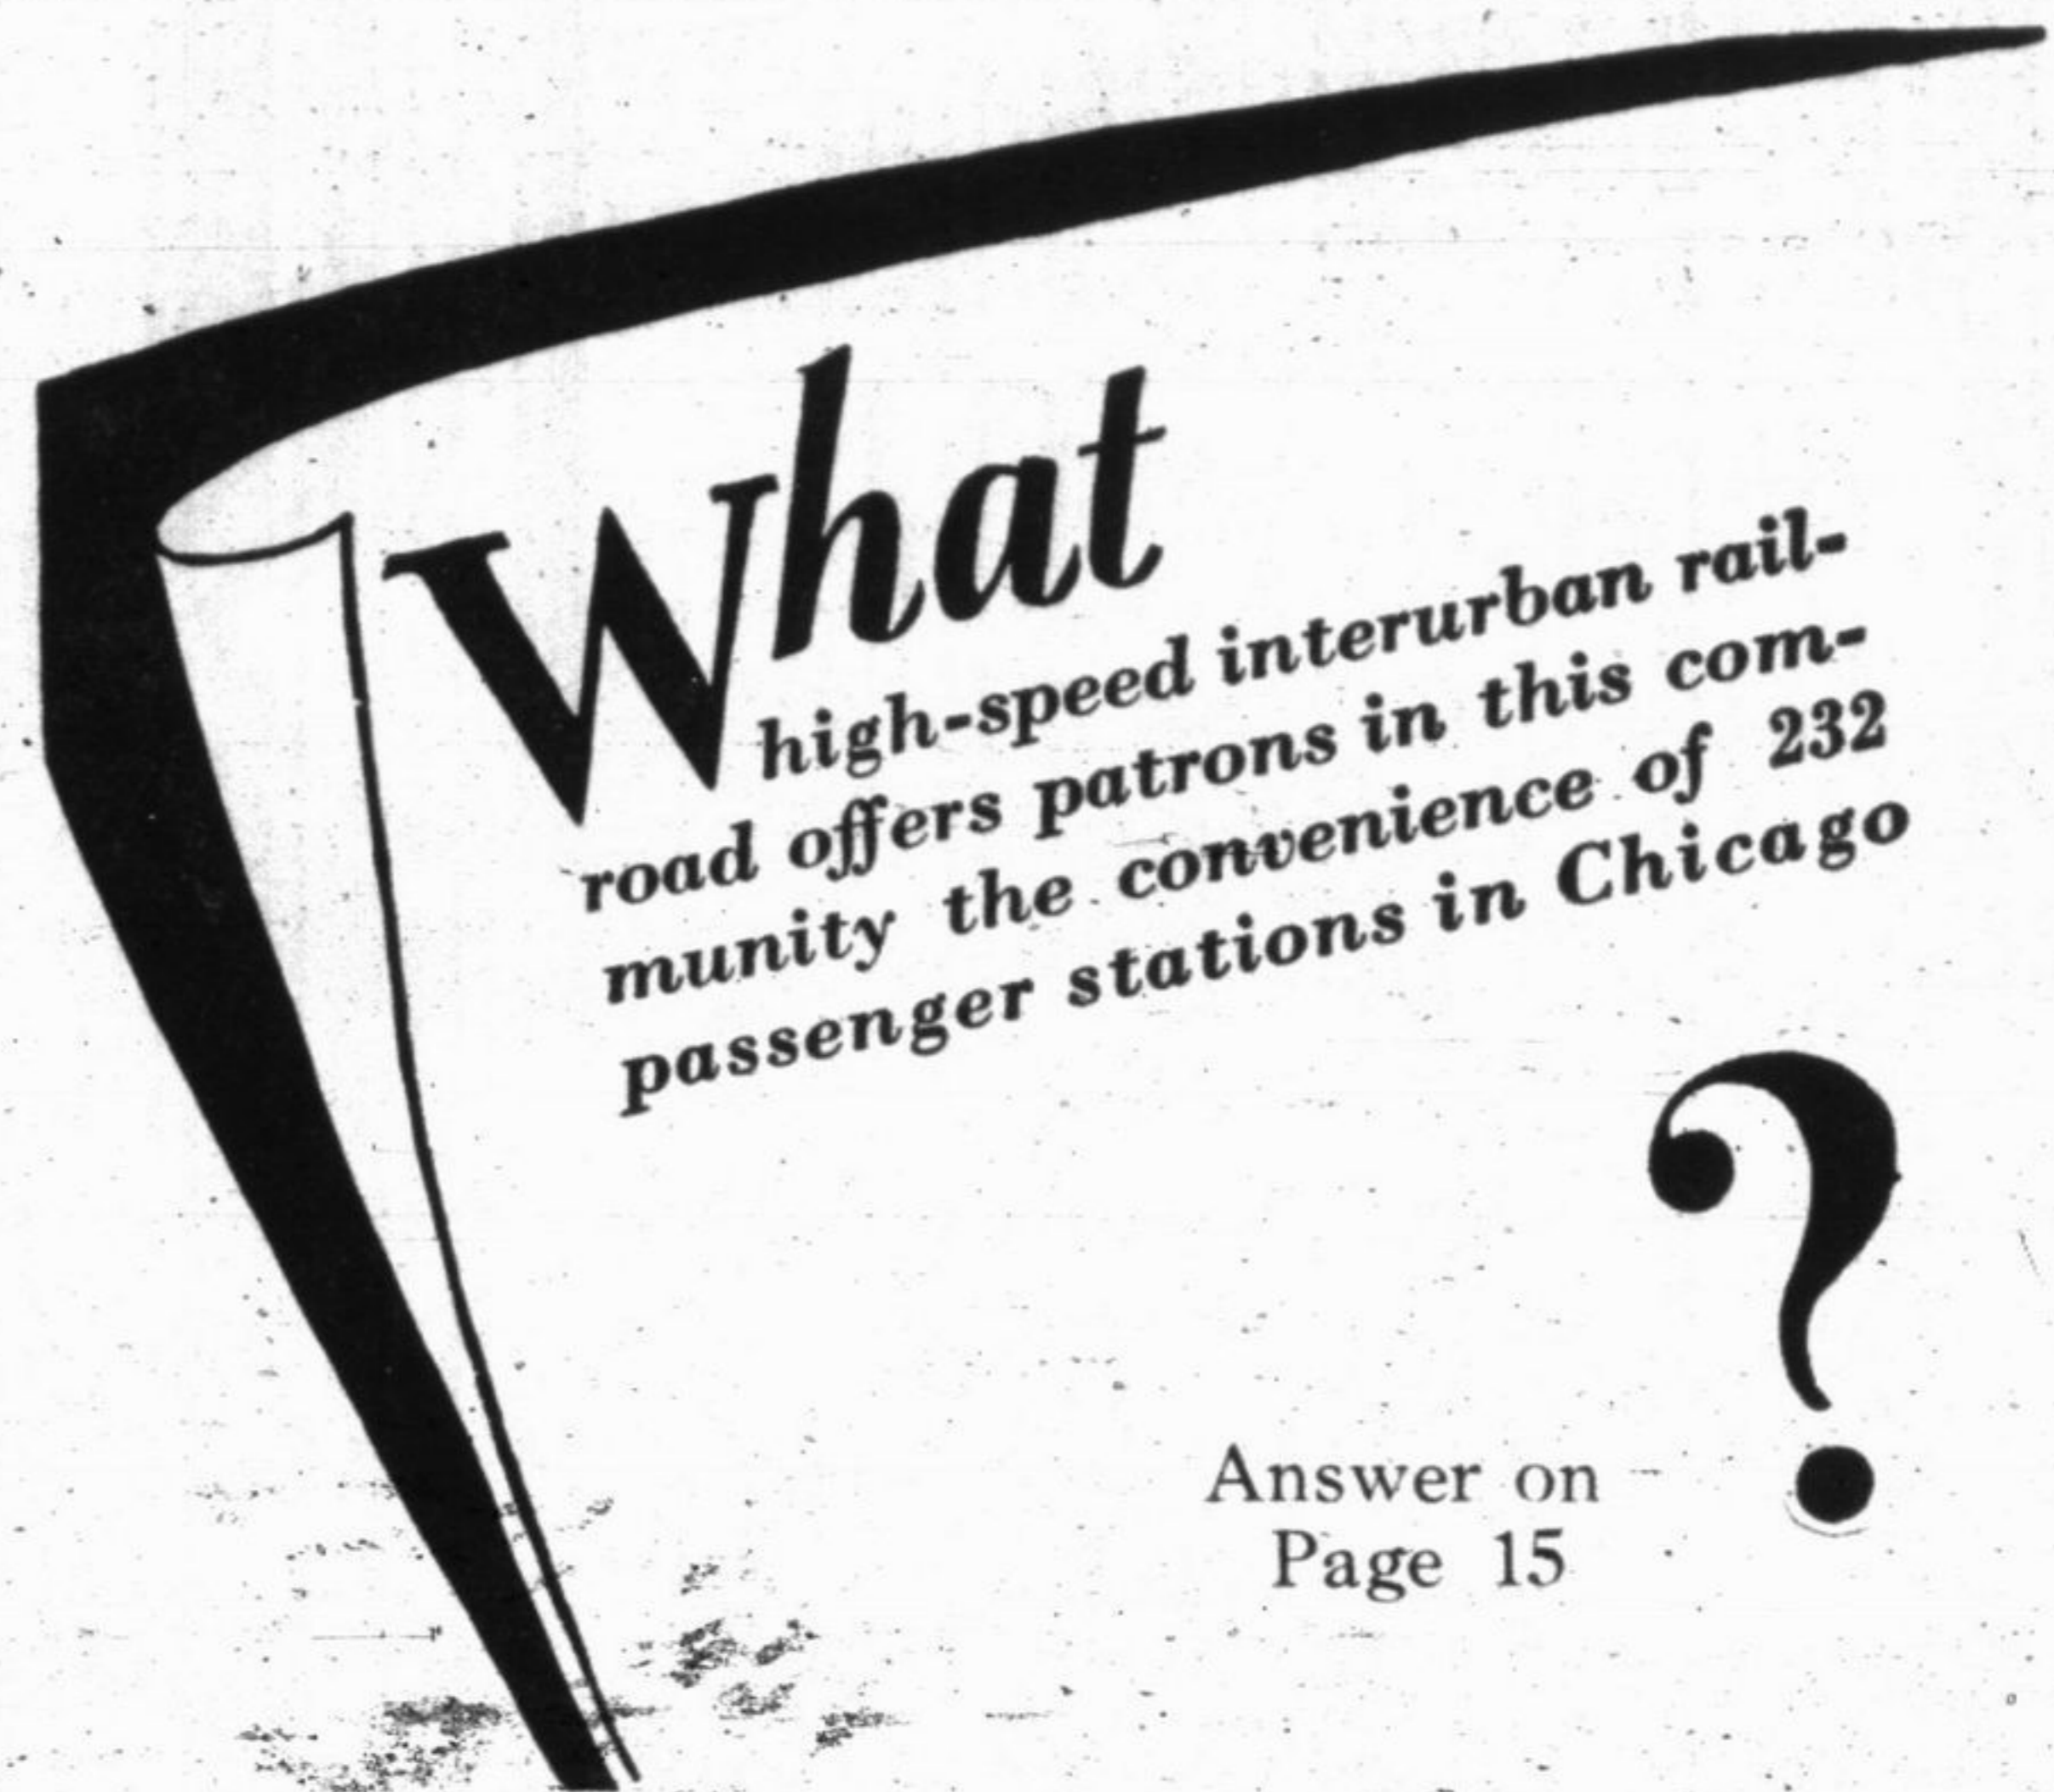

It may be of interest to note that the holders of these investment fund certificates will receive a semi-annual dividend in excess of 9 per cent for the current six months of this year. The assets of the thirty-one Standard Oil companies whose stock forms the basis of this trust are over $5,500,000,000. This investment is offered as a security embracing all the fundamentals of sound investment, safety, stability, and at the same time an exceptional yield. Interesting literature concerning this unusual investment is mailed upon application.

County Offices Close at Noon on Saturdays

All officers in the county building, at Waukegan, were closed at noon last Saturday, starting under the new state law which requires that the county offices be given a half-holiday on Saturday the year around. Several of the offices will find it a hardship to close on Saturday afternoons. The biggest marriage license business of the week is generally transacted on Saturday afternoons while in L. J. Wilmot's office as clerk of the circuit court, the Saturday afternoon court adjournment was a period for completing the office work in connection with the court. The sheriff's office is excepted. It is always open.
