

Ravinia Garden Club Holds Fine Meeting

The Ravinia Garden club, of which Mrs. C. C. Brackett, of Wilmot road, Deerfield, is an honorary member, held the July meeting in the beautiful garden of Mrs. Brackett, where the tallest delphinium ever seen in this locality, formed a background for the interesting program presented, while airplanes soared overhead. Fifty-five guests from the Glencoe, Wilmette, Highland Park, Deerfield and Bannockburn and Ravinia garden clubs were present.

Mrs. Frederick Fisher, of Lake Bluff, president of the Garden Club of Illinois, told of the flower show of the Central West which will take place in April of next year, under the auspices of the Garden Club of Illinois, in the Stadium on Warren avenue, near Paulina street, Chicago. Previously the annual state exhibit has been held in the Sherman hotel, but this year a larger building with adequate space has been secured, with an opportunity to make some money for the Garden Club of Illinois.

New features will be added to the exposition, such as safe and sane playground equipment.

The outstanding educational feature of the afternoon was Mrs. Walter Bradford Metcalf's scholarly paper on "The Magic of Herbs," which had its inspiration in a visit to Greek Orthodox church in Geneva, Switzerland, last year, where the burning of incense led Mrs. Metcalf into a search for the ingredients of the pungent accessory to worship.

"Knowledge is of no value except when it is useful in the construction of new ideas," and the idea in this case was a preparation of a delightful paper for the garden clubs.

In "Plants that have magic," Mrs. Metcalf began with the earliest records of healing, when man was poisoned by his own venom, cited the hippocratic oath, learned by the medical student before he graduates, and required by many of the best medical fraternities as an initiation oath, and told of the superstitions connected with the healing of the sick. When that failed they relied upon superstition. "The magic of flowers which carry myths; legends, and poetry in silent speech, ready to give joy, beauty, rest, and uplift to souls" was exemplified in the wonderful garden of the hostess which was viewed in sunshine and in shadow, before and after the meeting.

A guest from California said that the garden reminded her of Mary Pickford's.

Junior Members Tourney at Briergate Is Begun

The qualifying round of the Junior Members Tournament at Briergate Golf club was held yesterday, and the first flight will be held today. The second flight will be on July 22, the semi-final round on July 24, and the final round July 26. William M. Geary, president of the village of Deerfield has donated a cup for the winner, and the Briergate club also gives a prize for the winner. Indications are that the match will be an interesting one throughout.
