Bethany Evangelical Church

Rev. H. F. Siemsen, Pastor

The pastor and family have been granted a two weeks vacation. They are spending the same at lake Wawasee, Indiana. Anything needing the pastor's attention should be reported to the president of the trustee board, Mr. F. C. Noerenberg.

The W.M.S. meets at the home of Mrs. M. Montgomery, 614 Vine avenue Thursday afternoon.

On Friday of this week the Philathea class is giving an out-of-door supper, down at the lake, in central park. They invite all of the members of the Baraca class and all others who will, to attend. All those planning to attend, are asked to make their reservations with the social committee, consisting of Mrs. A. E. Vetter, Mrs. Wm. Guyot, Mrs. Don Bruce, and Miss C. Brand. In case that the weather is such that it will be impossible to have the supper at the lake, it then will be served in the dining halls of the church.

Next Sunday, in the absence of the pastor, Prof. E. D. Riebel, head of the Religious Education department of the Evangelical Theological Seminary of Naperville, will bring the message. He will speak both morning and evening. Professor Riebel is a very outstanding man in his field of work. He has been a leader in Michigan conference of the Evangelical church for a number of years. His abilities have won for him many high positions in the work of the church. He is a young man, and liked by all who hear him. It will be a rare privilege for all who worship at Bethany next Sunday.

The Barrington camp meeting will soon begin. Remember the dates, August 16-26. See another article in this issue for a more detailed account of the program.

International Sunday School Lesson for August 11

DANIEL AMONG THE LIONS

Daniel 6:10, 11, 16-23

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D.D.

Stories from Daniel's life have a fascination for children and continue to give great teaching lessons also to those of older years. As a book of romance the Bible reveals the truth that is stranger than fiction.

Joseph became prime minister in Egypt because of his innate worth and the same is true of Daniel in Babylon. As he had been a marked man under the Chaldean rule, so he was preferred by Darius the Mede who became the conqueror. The governmental organization consisted of 120 satraps with three presidents. Daniel was the leading president. The fact that he was a Jew led to much jealousy by the other officials and they planned to do away with him if possible.

Religion offered the one sure ground of attack, for these evil men were certain what Daniel would always do in his relationship with God. With Daniel's dependable habits in mind it was agreed at the caucus to appeal to the king's pride and propose that a decree be promulgated forbidding anyone to pray during thirty days except as Darius was the object of their approach. The penalty for disobedience was to be cast into the den of lions.

Sypers were watching Daniel who had the known habit of praying to Jehovah at least three times a day. He would open the windows in the direction of Jerusalem, 500 miles away as the airplane now flies, and kneel devoutly in his approach to the Throne of Jehovah. The next prayer time came, he just prayed "as he did aforetime." God was continuously gracious to him and he naturally "Gave thanks before his God." Prayer was an essential part of his life and not a spasm when in fear because of some special need. Then the plotters forced the king to order Daniel to the den of lions.

Daniel was the coolest in the crowd. He feared to dishonor God far more than to face the lions. Here was but another place for prayer. He entrusted himself to his Father, then said, "Amen," and was ready for sleep. He may have used a lion's shaggy skin for a soft pillow. Meanwhile the angel watched through the night between these creatures of the Most High. Read chapter 6 in full for all the familiar details.

The American Medical Association Congress, at its recent meeting at Portland, Oregon, blamed the speed of modern life for many mental disorders, and one speaker stated that daily excitement "may actually produce deafness, blindness, or serious gastric symptoms." Modern educational methods are also deplored in that they were conducive to ill health and also made accurate thinking impossible.

"Let your moderation be known to all men. The Lord is at hand. Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." Philippians 4:5-7.

Some people think it perfectly all right to forget about God during vacation time — forget to worship God, forget God's commandments in their conduct. The result is that at the end of each vacation they feel less enthusiastic about God, and by and by they forget about God altogether. A word of warning: Nowhere in the Bible has God said that He will excuse you from your duties to Him on the ground that this is vacation time. But he has said: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you."

Perhaps the reason why some folks dance so vigorously, is that it takes a good deal of effort to get their big feet out of the way.
