Highwood Welcome Signs Are Praised

Last week the Press reported the installation of handsome welcome signs by the Highwood Chamber of Commerce at the entrances to that city, but it was not until later that the character of the inscription thereon was brought to our attention. It reads: "Welcome to Highwood; please drive carefully." Visitors to Highwood cannot fail to appreciate this manner of calling attention of the motorist to the necessity of careful driving. How much better this is than the slogan seen so often outside of towns here and there reading something like this: "Motor vehicle laws strictly enforced." Tourists and others driving through Highwood will remember its friendly greeting, and whoever conceived the wording of the sign deserves praise for his good judgment.
