

Activities Commence at Y.W.C.A. Headquarters

Members of the Y. W. C. A. board of directors assembled Tuesday morning at the Association building, 374 Laurel avenue for their regular monthly meeting.

Reports from the executive, finance, house and publicity chairmen showed signs of inspiration in the beginning of the fall work of their respective committees. The members of the board with deep regret accepted Mrs.

L. R. Rigdon's resignation as chairman of the finance committee, in which capacity she has served so efficiently and faithfully for many months. Mrs. Rigdon is soon to leave Highland Park where she has devoted so much of her time in helping our Y. W. C. A. to be available to the girls and the community who need it today.

Plans for the Annual Maintenance campaign, which each fall gives the citizens of Highland Park an opportunity to support their local Y. W. C. A. in carrying on its work, were discussed and a campaign committee decided upon. This year the campaign will be held during the week of October 28 to November 2.

The Girl Reserve Junior group which some year ago were given the name of "Cubs" will hold its first meeting this fall on Monday, Sept. 16 at 4 o'clock in the club room at the Y. W. C. A. Miss Majory Kendall, who last year carried the Cubs through a most successful program and summer camp, will again be their club adviser.

Makio Girl Reserves at Oak Terrace school are anxious to renew the good times and good works they enjoyed last year. Miss De Hartog, dramatic and gymnasium teacher at Oak Terrace, is back from her summer vacation in Wisconsin and will continue this year as Girl Reserve adviser at that school. Miss De Hartog has been a Girl Reserve herself and was councilor at the Highland Park Girl Reserve camp in the early part of the summer.

Lydia V. Hutton, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., who organized a group of Girl Reserves last spring at the Deerfield grammar school will direct the re-organization of the group during the coming week.

Mrs. Bruce C. Chandler, publicity chairman and committee will meet Friday, Sept. 13, at 3 o'clock at the Association building.

The campaign committee will meet each Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock until the time of the campaign.

The B. Y.'s had their first meeting of the year at the Y. W. C. A., Tuesday, Sept. 10. The club will meet at the building the 2nd and 4th Tuesday of the month. The following officers are in office the remainder of the year;

Alvina Schneider, president; Emily Bryun, vice president; Anne Moran, secretary; Bertha Hackenberg, treasurer; Charlotte Stem, program chairman, assisted by Marie Bronson and Katherine Rhinehart. Betty Leffert is in charge of the refreshments.

COMMERCE CHAMBER HAS FINE PROGRAM

and school of technology to him. The entire proceedings of this dinner will be broadcast for the first time over an international hookup.

Demonstration Given

Mr. Molcomson by means of a phonograph and a radio gave a demonstration of how the banquet will be broadcast on the night of October 21, with description by a prominent announcer of the proceedings as they are likely to be staged on that occasion, and airplane descriptions of large cities as they are likely to be illuminated on the anniversary night. Following this two reels of movies depicting important events in the life of Mr. Edison and a few of his experiences in perfecting the first practical electric light were shown.

It was a very interesting program and was greatly enjoyed. Various members expressed themselves in accord with the movement to mark the anniversary by appropriate window displays, etc.

Messrs. A. E. Vetter and G. K. Hardacre were the members of the chamber who arranged the meeting and had the tearoom suitably decorated for the occasion.

In the course of the business session President Paul L. Udell announced that a warning had been received from the Illinois Chamber of Commerce to the effect that several fly-by-night promoters were canvassing this section of the state in attempts to sell Boulder Dam real estate and the like.

Several matters of routine character received attention; bills were ordered paid and report of the treasurer showed the finances of the chamber in excellent condition.
