wire fence and a concrete block held it from the ground probably were the factors which saved its occupant from instant death.

Chief of Police Tiffany and Officer Joseph Dunakin found her under the overturned car, which apparently had dived nose first and turned end for end in its descent. The girl had been thrown clear of the steering wheel and lay with her head near the cement block which held the car from crushing down on her, the police report. She was rushed to the Fort Sheridan hospital, where everything possible was done, and on Tuesday reports were that she had a good chance to recover.

On Way Home

Miss Buhl was returning from Ferry Hall, well known Lake Forest girls school, where she had registered for her senior year, and it is believed that as her car rounded the sharp curve above the bridge it became unmanageable because of the slippery condition of the pavement due to a heavy shower and plunged through the rail before she could control its skidding.

A picture of the wrecked car as it lay upside down in the deep ravine after the accident is shown elsewhere in this paper.

Scene of Accident in 1922

In this instance the car, which was going south, after rounding a sharp curve a short distance north of the bridge, struck the iron railing of the structure and smashed through it. In a similar accident seven years ago, Marian Scanlan, daughter of Circuit Judge Kickham Scanlan of Chicago, was killed when the judge's car, driven by a chauffeur, crashed through the guard rail at the south end of the bridge, as the car proceeded north on the night of September 8, 1922. The judge's arm was broken and his wife and another daughter and a son-in-law were injured.

Later Report

Report from the hospital Wednesday afternoon was to the effect that the young woman was improving and that her chance of recovery was good. The car was hoisted out of the ravine Tuesday afternoon. It was badly wrecked.

Additional Activity in DeForest School

The play program for the De Forest school will be conducted by the Outdoor Play clubs. The Outdoor Play clubs is an organization created for the development of character in boys through the medium of their play life. Mr. McKinney, the present director, founded the first club two years ago in Winnetka. Since then, the organization has grown until now there is at least one club in every suburban town north of Evanston up to and including Lake Forest.

The program consists of instruction in all forms of athletics with special emphasis placed on good sportsmanship, development of the individual as well as his relationship to the group as a whole. Handicraft, woodcraft and nature study will also be a part of the program.

A De Forest athletic team will be formed in each sport, which will compete with the other clubs in the organization. Discipline is one of the keynotes of the work, yet a boy is given an opportunity to assert his individuality and to progress along any particular line of endeavor to which he may be especially adapted.

The director is anxious to keep in touch with the parents of the boys in the clubs and encourage constructive criticism at any time.

Mr. McKinney may be reached at his office at 545 Lincoln avenue, Winnetka, Ill.; telephone 2712.

The physical education of the girls will be under the separate supervision of Miss Marion C. Knight. Their program will include instruction in summer and winter sports.

Self-reliance, obedience and the ability to participate with others are some of the qualities developed through organized team work and competitive games and sports. Through these avenues, character building goes on and is reflected not only in the study room but in the home as well.

For detailed information address Miss Marion C. Knight, 510 Lee street, Evanston, Ill., or telephone Winnetka 2712.
