TULIP PLANTING TIME. The month of October is the best time for planting tulips. A tulip must have time to stool out and produce their root system in the Fall, before it actually freezes up. For that same reason tulips planted from six to eight inches deep are more apt to live and thrive from year to year than those planted shallow.

MULCHING TULIPS. Any kind of litter or finely rotted manure is alright for mulching tulips, but should be removed at the first heavy rainfall that thaws out the ground in the Spring.

WINTER KILLING OF TULIPS. Holland suffered their greatest loss this year from the winter killing of tulips, than it has for several years past. The reason was no doubt, that the Hollanders have from time to time, been planting their tulips more shallow each year on account of digging. A tulip harvests much easier when planted shallow, as they dig their tulips with their hands. This fact indicates that they have a very light, fluffy soil.

FRANKEN'S MASTER LIST OF TULIPS

Breeders Tulips

Consists of a great many choice varieties on tall, sturdy stems, and a wider range of colors than the Darwin Tulips. You will find in the breeders many choice colors of bronze, and many fair yellows, where there is neither of these colors found in the Darwins. Breeders are very fine for rock gardens and plantings among evergreens. Many years have been devoted in breeding up this strain of Tulips from whence their name, BREEDERS, has arrived.
