ENGINEER SURVEYS
CONTESTED ROUTE
 State Official Inspects Section of Highway 173 Near Antioch

Conflicting opinions of the location of Highway 173, the Zion-Rockford road, through Antioch and west to Channell lake, last week resulted in District Engineer George N. Lamb of Elgin making a survey of the ground and hearing complaints. As the section to be paved runs through a territory largely subdivided, and cuts through a village of 1,100 people, two factions have arisen, one urging the route to be carried along the main business street, and another body opposing this suggestion, it is understood.

Enters Village
 Under the original survey the highway enters the village just south of the high school and cuts across Route 21 to swing diagonally northwest crossing Route 59 south of the new Catholic church and thence almost straight west to the south shore of Channel lake.

Is Two-Mile Strip
 The survey covers a territory that has been served by a twisting lane for many years. In the main the survey lays out an 80 per cent new course, county engineers declare.

Lamb went over the territory with the objectors and listened to arguments for and against the proposed course. He took the matter under advisement.

Confiscate Little
 While the proposed course leaves the old roadbed it does not confiscate much property. Only one house will be destroyed, it is said.

Besides the paving, in which considerable fill will be needed to bolster swampy land, there will be two large bridge jobs, one over the Fox river and another over the water connection between Lake Katherine and Channel lake.

Route 173, which is paved in part in this county, will be financed out of the old $100,000,000 bond issue.

Farmers' Institute to Meet at Model Farm

A meeting of the Lake County Farmer's Institute will be held at the Model Farm at Mundelein on Wednesday, October 16th with sessions both afternoon and evening. An interesting display of farm produce is planned and an effort will be made to secure the co-operation of every farmer in the county.

The plans also include an exhibit of interest to the womenfolk and the 4-H clubs will also be given a place on the program. Mrs. Fulton, of Waukegan, first vice president of the Illinois household science department will speak.

A meeting to formulate plans for the institute was held Friday night with president Frank Gipton presiding.

Other meetings of the institute will be held at Gurnee, Lake Zurich and Antioch.
