

Oak Terrace School Notes

Art Club

Miss Opitz, art teacher at the Oak Terrace school, has organized an art club for the eighth grade girls. Meetings are held every Wednesday after school. The officers will soon be elected. Miss Opitz has planned many interesting things for the girls to do, and many useful articles for them to make.—Ethel Svendsen.

Famous Lecturer Visits Oak Terrace

Mr. Dalhwani, dressed in native costume, gave a lecture on Indian customs and religion at the Oak Terrace school last week. He made geography interesting and real to his audience by many entertainments. He ate soup with his hands, sang, wrapped a turban around his head, spoke in three different Hindu languages, and gave orations. The children found this entertainment very enjoyable.—Lena Calbri.

Girl Reserves

Mr. Thomas has given the Makia

Girl Reserves permission to hold two meetings of the four monthly meetings in the old kindergarten rooms of the Oak Terrace school. These girls are buying a Girl Reserve flag to have in their meeting room. The other two meetings will be held at the Y. W. C. A. in Highland Park.—Marie Russell.

The Thrift Sale

There will be a thrift sale in Trinity parish house on Friday of this week, October 11. Clothing, books, furniture, china and glass ware, lamps and many other valuable things will be for sale. Prices will be modest and reasonable and it is hoped that the public will patronize this sale.

Defers Social Lead

Battle at Washington

Summer is over and the great national game of bridge whist is now being played in city homes and apartments instead of at the seashore and in the country. Incidentally Washington society has again been thrown into a hubbub of excitement over the question of where Mrs. Dolly Gann will sit at the table.

Her brother, Vice President Curtis, arranged for her to trade places at the head of the table with the wife of the British Ambassador at official functions given in honor of Premier Ramsay MacDonald of England. But Mr. Curtis stipulated that it was only a temporary arrangement. This furnishes the prospect of another series of social duels in Washington. There is no telling what Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, the fiery daughter of former President Roosevelt, may do to enliven the social battles of Washington this winter.

Wonder if an increase in the tariff on sugar will cut down the number of sweet dispositions in America?
