

Some Simple Questions for the Borrower

ALWAYS remember that borrowed money must be paid back. Ask yourself these questions, therefore, when you make a loan:

Do I really need this money?

Could I get along with less?

Have I a profitable use for it, so that it will come back to be with a profit by the time it has to be paid back?

As custodian of our depositor's money, we are anxious to have it doing useful work in this community. That's why we want our loans to be profitable to all concerned.

LIGHTS GOLDEN JUBILEE

This Jubilee of Light marks the high point in the civilization and progress of the world. Health conditions — like all other things — have improved tremendously in the past fifty years—due to the rapid strides made in the medical and surgical sciences. And we are proud of the fact that the pharmaceutical world has advanced hand in hand with them.
