For Men in Moderate Circumstances

WHO are saving consistently to build a comfortable estate, the modern insurance trust plan provides an opportunity to create a sure estate now at one stroke. You can pay in the future as you earn. Investigate now the advantages of this sound plan.

The life insurance trust in family or dependents and pay the cost of the insurance out of your insurance estate. It is safe protection against waste or the handling of funds by the inexperienced. It brings to the management of your estate a responsible, permanently located financial corporation, skilled in making investments, familiar with markets and completely equipped for this kind of work.

You may measure the size of the estate you wish to create by the estimated needs of your family or dependents and pay the cost of the insurance out of current income. Or, you can make a "funded" life insurance trust and, by depositing income earning securities, finish the job at once. The plan is simple and flexible. It may be readily adapted to your means and your needs. You may start it in a small way and increase it later, or change its terms. The life insurance trust is a distinctly modern method of solving a distinctly modern problem.
