

Northwestern Faces Tough Battle With Minnesota Saturday

Northwestern and Minnesota will engage in their thirteenth gridiron battle here Saturday and the outcome will be closely watched by the Big Ten.

The Purple made a surprising bid against Wisconsin's Badgers. None of the critics had figured Coach Dick Hanley to be able to match the strength of Glenn Thistlethwaite's army of husky players, but he sent an inspired team on the field that took command of the situation at the start and never once was in serious danger of being scored upon.

Northwestern suffered the loss of Hank Bruder in the third period. Bruder was carried from the field with a broken leg in the third period. His loss will put the Wildcats right back into the class of unknowns in their future battles.

Al Moore will likely be used in Bruder's position. This will mean a number of switches in the Wildcat backfield forces. Moore has been the second choice fullback to Russ Bergheim. Hanley has no other out and out fullback candidate to fill the gap so he will groom Calderwood and Moore to be ready to step in if Bergheim is injured. The changes made necessary by Bruder's injury will put the versatility of the Wildcat backs to the acid test. Johnny Haas, who has been subbing for Lee Hanley at quarterback, will be drilled to take Calderwood's position at right halfback if the latter is injured or is shifted to full.

Adolph Bolm School of Dance on North Shore

At the request of many parents on the north shore Mr. Adolph Bolm is opening a branch of his ballet school in Winnetka as a convenient center for those who live between Evanston and Lake Forest. Adolph Bolm has been educated in the Imperial Ballet school in Petrograd since the age of nine and has been associated with the Imperial Ballet at Petrograd and the Diaghilev Russian Ballet in Europe and America and is a recognized authority on the dance, but he has given nearly all his teaching activity to this country.

The ballet instruction will be conducted by the assistants of The Adolph Bolm School of Dance in Chicago, among whom is Miss Berenice Holmes of the Adolph Bolm Ballet. There will be children's beginners and advanced classes and also classes for adults. New classes will be formed whenever necessary and later will be introduced Spanish dancing under the instruction of Joze Alvarez of Madrid.

The opening day for the Winnetka branch of the school will be October 24 at the community house, when Mrs. Bolm will be present as hostess. Visitors will be welcome.
