ARE YOU ORTHODOX?
QUEEN VICTORIA.
OLD THINGS AND NEW.

As impressive reading as I have ever found in the writing of a first-class man is from George Santayana:

"I have great respect for orthodoxy; not for those orthodoxies which prevail in particular schools or nations, and which vary from age to age, but for a certain shrewd orthodoxy which the sentiment and practice of laymen maintain everywhere. I think that common sense, in a rough, dogged way, is technically sounder than the special schools of philosophy, each of which squints and overlooks half the facts and half the difficulties in its eagerness to find some detail the key to the whole. I am animated by distrust of all high guesses, and by sympathy with the old prejudices and workaday opinions of mankind: they are ill expressed, but they are well grounded."

I also like Santayana because he said: "My system is not mine, nor is it new." I am prejudiced against those persons who show enthusiasm only in presence of something they consider new. Here is a leader in philosophy who has most respect for the old common sense as discovered by laymen in the school of practical experience, where all of us are students, and may become useful teachers:

Harvard college is just a building; outside is the World:

I am orthodox; I accept what the best of my neighbors say; I accept that shrewd orthodoxy which the sentiment and practice of laymen maintain everywhere.

When one encounters a good thing in reading, a pleasurable thrill follows—I never greatly admired Queen Victoria. Possibly it was because her virtues were exploited so much: one soon gets too much of that. But years ago I read that, as a girl, Victoria was compelled to learn house-keeping, and it gave me a pleasurable thrill, for I believe in training of that sort. Occasionally I have heard a woman say, boastfully, that she never had her hands in dishwater, and thereafter I think of her as I do of a professional actress, athlete, suffragette, or follower of the "Occult."

A great medical association lately held its annual convention. The best men in the profession were attracted, and one old fellow, recognized as without a peer in his line, bluntly told them that with all their investigation, practically nothing of value in prolonging life had been discovered in many years: that old age is the same inexorable thing it has always been. . . . With all our learning, old things finally demonstrate their supremacy over the new.

There is a kind of woman men obey with a good deal of cheerfulness. But she is always a capable boss, and does not ask too much; when too much is demanded, men tighten up, and display a meanness women cannot equal.

Half the people are martyrs to unreasonable, disagreeable kin.
