Deerfield Press Now

Full-Fledged Newspaper

Advice has been received from the third assistant postmaster general at Washington that the "Deerfield Press," published by the Udell Printing Co., has been entered as second class matter for the village of Deerfield, with the request that there be printed on the "mast head" or other suitable place in the paper the following:

"Entered as second class matter, July 18, 1929, at the post office at Deerfield, Illinois, under the act of March 3, 1879." Published weekly by the Udell Printing Co.

This makes the Deerfield Press a full-fledged Deerfield newspaper with the right to publish all legal publications of the village of Deerfield.

It is the aim of the Udell Printing Co. to make the Deerfield Press a real Deerfield newspaper giving to that community the best possible service at all times, aiding in all reputable projects for the progress of the village and its people and furnishing each week a complete report of the news of that community in as far as obtainable.

Prize Hallowe'en Masquerade at Witten Hall, Thursday, Oct. 31

Mr. R. L. Sandwick Address P. T. A. Friday

It is to be regretted that so few parents were able to hear the very delightful talk given by Mr. R. L. Sandwick principal of Deerfield-Shields high school at the October meeting of the Deerfield Parent-Teacher association held on Friday afternoon in the school auditorium. An unexpected entertaining feature of the afternoon was the program given by Boys' Glee club of the high school, under direction of Mr. Bolle, and who was accompanied at the piano by Edgerly Todd.

During the business session, which preceded, Mrs. J. A. Stryker, a former president presided.

The association voted to give a dollar cash prize to the room, which secured the most number of members during the membership drive to be held shortly.

A card party will be given on Friday evening, November 15, in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Irving Brand, chairman of Rummage Sale committee, urged the members to co-operate by both bringing articles and helping with the sale.

Miss Margaret Hunt's room, grade 4A, was awarded the cash two dollar prize for having the largest attendance.

Wilmot School P. T. A.

The Wilmot school Parent-Teacher association will hold their regular meeting at the school on Friday evening, October 18 at 8 o'clock.
