tions. Her committee now conduct- ing the subscription drive are Mrs. Otis Beardsley as co-chairman and Mrs. Wilfred Shipnes, Mrs. G. Ar- thur Buhl, Mrs. D. B. Blasier, Mrs. Wilson L. Kline, Mrs. A. Lawrence Mills, Mrs. Edmund D. Brigham, Mrs. Lewis B. Sinclair, Mrs. Ralph Bard, Mrs. Charles Benson, Mrs. Al- lan I. Wolff, Miss Zoe Comer, Miss Edna Grenoble and Miss Rachel Har- lem.

"The Devil's Disciple" will be pre- sented in Highland Park in the Wo- man's club auditorium on Tuesday, November 12. Through arrange- ments made by Mrs. Hopkins and her committee reserved seats will be ob- tainable as in the past and may be secured at Pease' Drug store on and after Tuesday, November 5. Regular guild subscription tickets will be ex- changed there for reserved seats, and for those who are not subscribers to the guild, tickets for the single per- formance will be on sale.

Subscription Advantages

Subscription to the North Shore Theater guild is for the season. The holder receives eight tickets to the guild plays, which may be used, two for each production, or all eight at once or in any other combination. In addition, the subscriber is noti- fied of every guild activity in ad- vance of its date, and further, has the privilege in Highland Park of reserving seats for the performance one week in advance. An effort is made to use as many as are inter- ested in the performance and produc- tion of the guild plays. Because of the many subscribers, however—the list totalling nearly 1,500—it has be- come a major task to use everybody in the course of a single season. But each year sees opportunities given many new people to assist the guild in its work, and this year, due to the new system through which each play will have its individual director and production committee, it is planned to bring in many more new people than has ever been done in the past.

Capable Director

Charlotte Barrows Chorpenning is directing the production of "The Devil's Disciple" for the North Shore Theater guild. Through her ability and her past experiences, Mrs. Chor- penning is admirably fitted for this work, and her knowledge of the play, which is one of Shaw's best, made her selection to fill the position a very logical choice on the part of the guild's board of directors. Mrs. Chor- penning had much of her training under the well-known Professor Baker when he was at Yale. Later she specialized in the writing and producing of plays with local groups in several cities, plays which were written about the problems of the particular group and presented by them as a protest against and a campaign toward the betterment of certain conditions in their environ- ment which seemed oppressive or un- pleasant. From this, Mrs. Chorpen- ning went to the Recreation Training School of Chicago, to serve there as an instructor in the type of work in which she had been so actively en- gaged.

When the Recreation Training school was taken over by the North- western university as a phase of its sociological work, Mrs. Chorpenning was given the additional position of director of the Play Shop Acting company of the university, a position which she now holds.

The Play Shop Acting company produces plays which are written by its members only, and several of Mrs. Chorpenning's productions there have been very successful. "Quagmire," written about South Carolina negro life by a student at the university, and presented by an all-negro cast under Mrs. Chorpenning's direction, is the latest success of the play shop group, and is even now being pre- pared for revival with much the same group of actors and actresses.

Under Mrs. Chorpenning's direc- tion a cast of capable Theater guild amateurs are rapidly preparing "The Devil's Disciple" for its opening per- formance, and the guild managers have not hesitation in saying that the production will be one of the guild's best, and a most competent opening play for this season's work.

Designing Scenery

All scenery which will be used in this production is being designed and constructed in the guild studio by T. J. Erbach, technical director. Mr. Erbach is a new-comer to the guild's permanent staff, taking the place left vacant by the resignation of Richard Woellhaf. Mrs. B. E. Fillis of Win- netka is serving as chairman of the costume committee. Mrs. Fillis is a student of costuming, especially with regard to its bearing on the play and the results of its harmonious rela- tionship with scenery and lighting, and her work will very certainly add to the beauty of the striking scenes of the melodrama. Miss Strong of Highland Park is chairman of the committee in charge of the securing of the many stage properties and of their handling on the circuit.

For Information

Questions about the North Shore Theater guild activities in Highland Park should be addressed to Mrs. Hopkins at Highland Park 80 or any member of the local committee will be glad to supply information. Lite- rature descriptive of the guild will be sent on application to the North Shore Theater guild studio in Evan- ston. The guild is entering its ninth season with enthusiastic plans for the year, and its managers suggest that its subscription lists in every town are sufficient evidence of the popular- ity of attending the Guild theater in every north shore home town.

Mundelein Prohibits Signs on Trees, Poles

The village trustees of Mundelein at their regular monthly meeting last week passed a resolution calling for an ordinance prohibiting the plac- ing of signs and other advertisements on poles or trees within the village limits.

The action was taken at the in- stance of Trustee Gordon Ray, who complained that during the summer the village was flooded with adver- tisements which presented an un- sightly appearance. It is expected the ordinance will be passed at the next meeting of the board scheduled to be held October 21.

Some of us are sore, because we have no money to lose in the stock market.
