Interesting Happenings About North Shore; Doings at County Seat

Miss Bridget Dugdale, born in Waukegan 63 years ago and a resident of that community for most of her life died in Chicago last Wednesday afternoon, after an extended illness.

Peter Erickson, 35, of 529 Helmholtz avenue, Waukegan, had one eye removed at the Kenosha hospital to save the sight of his other eye, injured in an auto accident west of Kenosha.

Frank M. Young died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Schlung, at 822 Massena avenue, Waukegan, last week after an extended illness. He was 59 years old.

While there has as yet been no official estimate of the amount of damage done by the lake storm last week, it undoubtedly will amount to thousands of dollars in Waukegan alone, according to reports from that city.

Temporary federal injunction to prevent the sale of liquor at the Grand Inn at Grand avenue near Green Bay road was issued last week by Federal Judge Carpenter in Chicago.

John Polmateer, retired veteran blacksmith who was born in Waukegan 78 years ago, passed away at the home of Chas. McClure, a cousin, at Gurnee, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Beck, 1401 Washington street, Waukegan, celebrated their sixty-fourth wedding anniversary recently in a very quiet and informal manner. Many of their friends came in to pay them a casual visit.

Burglars jimmied their way into the home of Matt Mackey, a jeweler of 144 South Genesee street, Waukegan, while Mrs. Mackey was away for the afternoon, carrying off a box containing jewels valued at $2,000.

The accidental discharge of a shot gun in the hands of a friend last week caused the death of Leo Edward Nicholas, 21, of 2136 Monroe street, Chicago, at Fox Lake.

Arrests Three for Killing Pheasants

Three young men from Chicago were arrested near Antioch by Deputy Game Warden Henry Kern last week and taken before Justice Charles E. Mason of Waukegan, on charges of shooting pheasants out of season. They were fined $30 each, and held in jail until afternoon when friends appeared to pay their freedom. They are: L. Beenstorth, Frank Stacy and Cesario Sortorie.

The little boy's definition may be right, at that, when he intimated that "dictation" is what a man takes from his wife and gives to his stenographer.—Savannah Morning News.

Probing Abuses in Peddlers' Licenses Granted to Veterans

A survey into the conditions surrounding the issuance of peddling permits to world war veterans without charge by municipalities in Illinois is to be made by the city finance and city clerks division of the Illinois Municipal league under the direction of Commissioner Al Carney of Waukegan who is the president of the state group.

The abuse of the privilege accorded to the veterans is proving to be one of the gravest problems confronting the finance departments of cities and villages in the state.

It has been disclosed that veterans have been obtaining peddling permits in all cities and villages in the state and selling them to agents in Chicago. These agents in turn lease the permits to peddlers, usually of the lower types, who pose as world war veterans and who take advantage of the sentiment that is held in each community for ex-service men to sell articles at a price far above their value.

Waukegan and other communities in Lake county have been victimized along with other communities in the state.

The division is seeking to establish a system whereby the legitimate peddler who is a world war veteran is protected and the fake war veteran is eliminated.
