

VOCATIONAL BOYS PUT ROOF ON HOUSE

The boys in the vocational department are working especially hard on the house this week in an attempt to make up for lost time when they were delayed two weeks ago during rainy weather.

So far, the boys have completed the rafters and the sheeting and are starting the job of shingling the roof. The studding of the garage is up, and all the window frames are in and painted.

Mr. Durbahn, who supervises the boys, said that he can probably arrange to have a set of the plans ready for print in another week or two. Then you can see all the features of the house, the recreation room in the basement, the bedroom suite, and the arrangement of the rooms.

The house is located at 120 Clifton avenue, on a 50x209 foot lot. There is a large oak tree in the front yard.

BASKETBALL TEAM STARTS TO PRACTICE

Basketball practice at Deerfield-Shields will begin some time next week, according to Coach Peel. Several of last year's men will be back this year for both teams, and prospects show that Deerfield will have two good teams on the floor this winter.

Some of last year's men who will be back again this season are Seyfarth, Thomas, Segert, Maiman, Hubley, Taylor, Geraghty, Zanier, Maloney, and Garling. These boys are from the lightweight and heavy-weight squads. Anyone playing lightweight has to be under 135 pounds.

The schedules of the games have not been completed as yet, but each school will play a home game and a game away during the season in the Suburban league. Deerfield's teams will probably have two or three non-league games also.

Several of the fellows have been shooting baskets after school and during the gym classes lately. The gym will be open Saturday mornings from now on, so that anyone can practice then also.

WRITE ANONYMOUS ESSAYS IN MISS GORMAN'S CLASSES

Anonymous little newspapers, are being handed in to Miss Gorman every day now. They are written in imitation of the style of "The Rambler" and the "The Spectator." The class is studying the life works of Johnson, which accounts for all this activity.

About a dozen of these papers have been handed in already, and only two of the authors have been found out. The papers are usually typewritten to make identification impossible, but each author is required to give some little clue as to his identity. Sometimes the initials are all jumbled up—sometimes his birthday is given—all sorts of strange clues.

These papers are read before the classes and the author's name is guessed. If no one is able to guess before a week, the author himself, must tell Miss Gorman or he will not receive the credit for writing it.

The sixth period class is making plans for an eighth century banquet. Ella McEwen is in charge of this, while Harry Burbach heads the committee for the menu and the place cards. Gladys Udell, Evelyn Roskam, and Muriel Bartlett are members of this committee. There will even be toasts and speeches, the only drawback to this banquet is the fact that there will be no food served.

INTERESTING CONTENTS IN NOVEMBER MAGAZINES

"World's Work" is a magazine which has shown great progress in thirty years of publication, and we hope to interest the students in seeing this improvement," says Mrs. Walters, our librarian.

The November "World's Work" is a magazine containing articles comparing the World's progress and stupendous gains of today with those of thirty years ago.

"Thirty years ago, the tallest building on Wall Street was the Gillender building which was sixteen stories high," reads one article. "Today the Starrett Corporation is erecting a sixty-five story structure; the Irving Trust company has started a building of approximately the same height. Both of these structures are taller than the Woolworth building, and are illustrative of business and finance in this country during the past three decades."

Read of the startling changes that have taken place during thirty years in "World's Work."

"Harper's Magazine" features "Mussolini's American Empire," a story of the New World and Mussolini.

"The Golden Book" is printing the masterpieces of the World's best authors of all times.

For aviation, students should read the articles in the November edition of the "National Magazine," especially J. A. Wilson's article entitled "Gentlemen Adventures of the Air."

SEARCH FOR SPEAKER FOR BOYS CLUB BANQUET

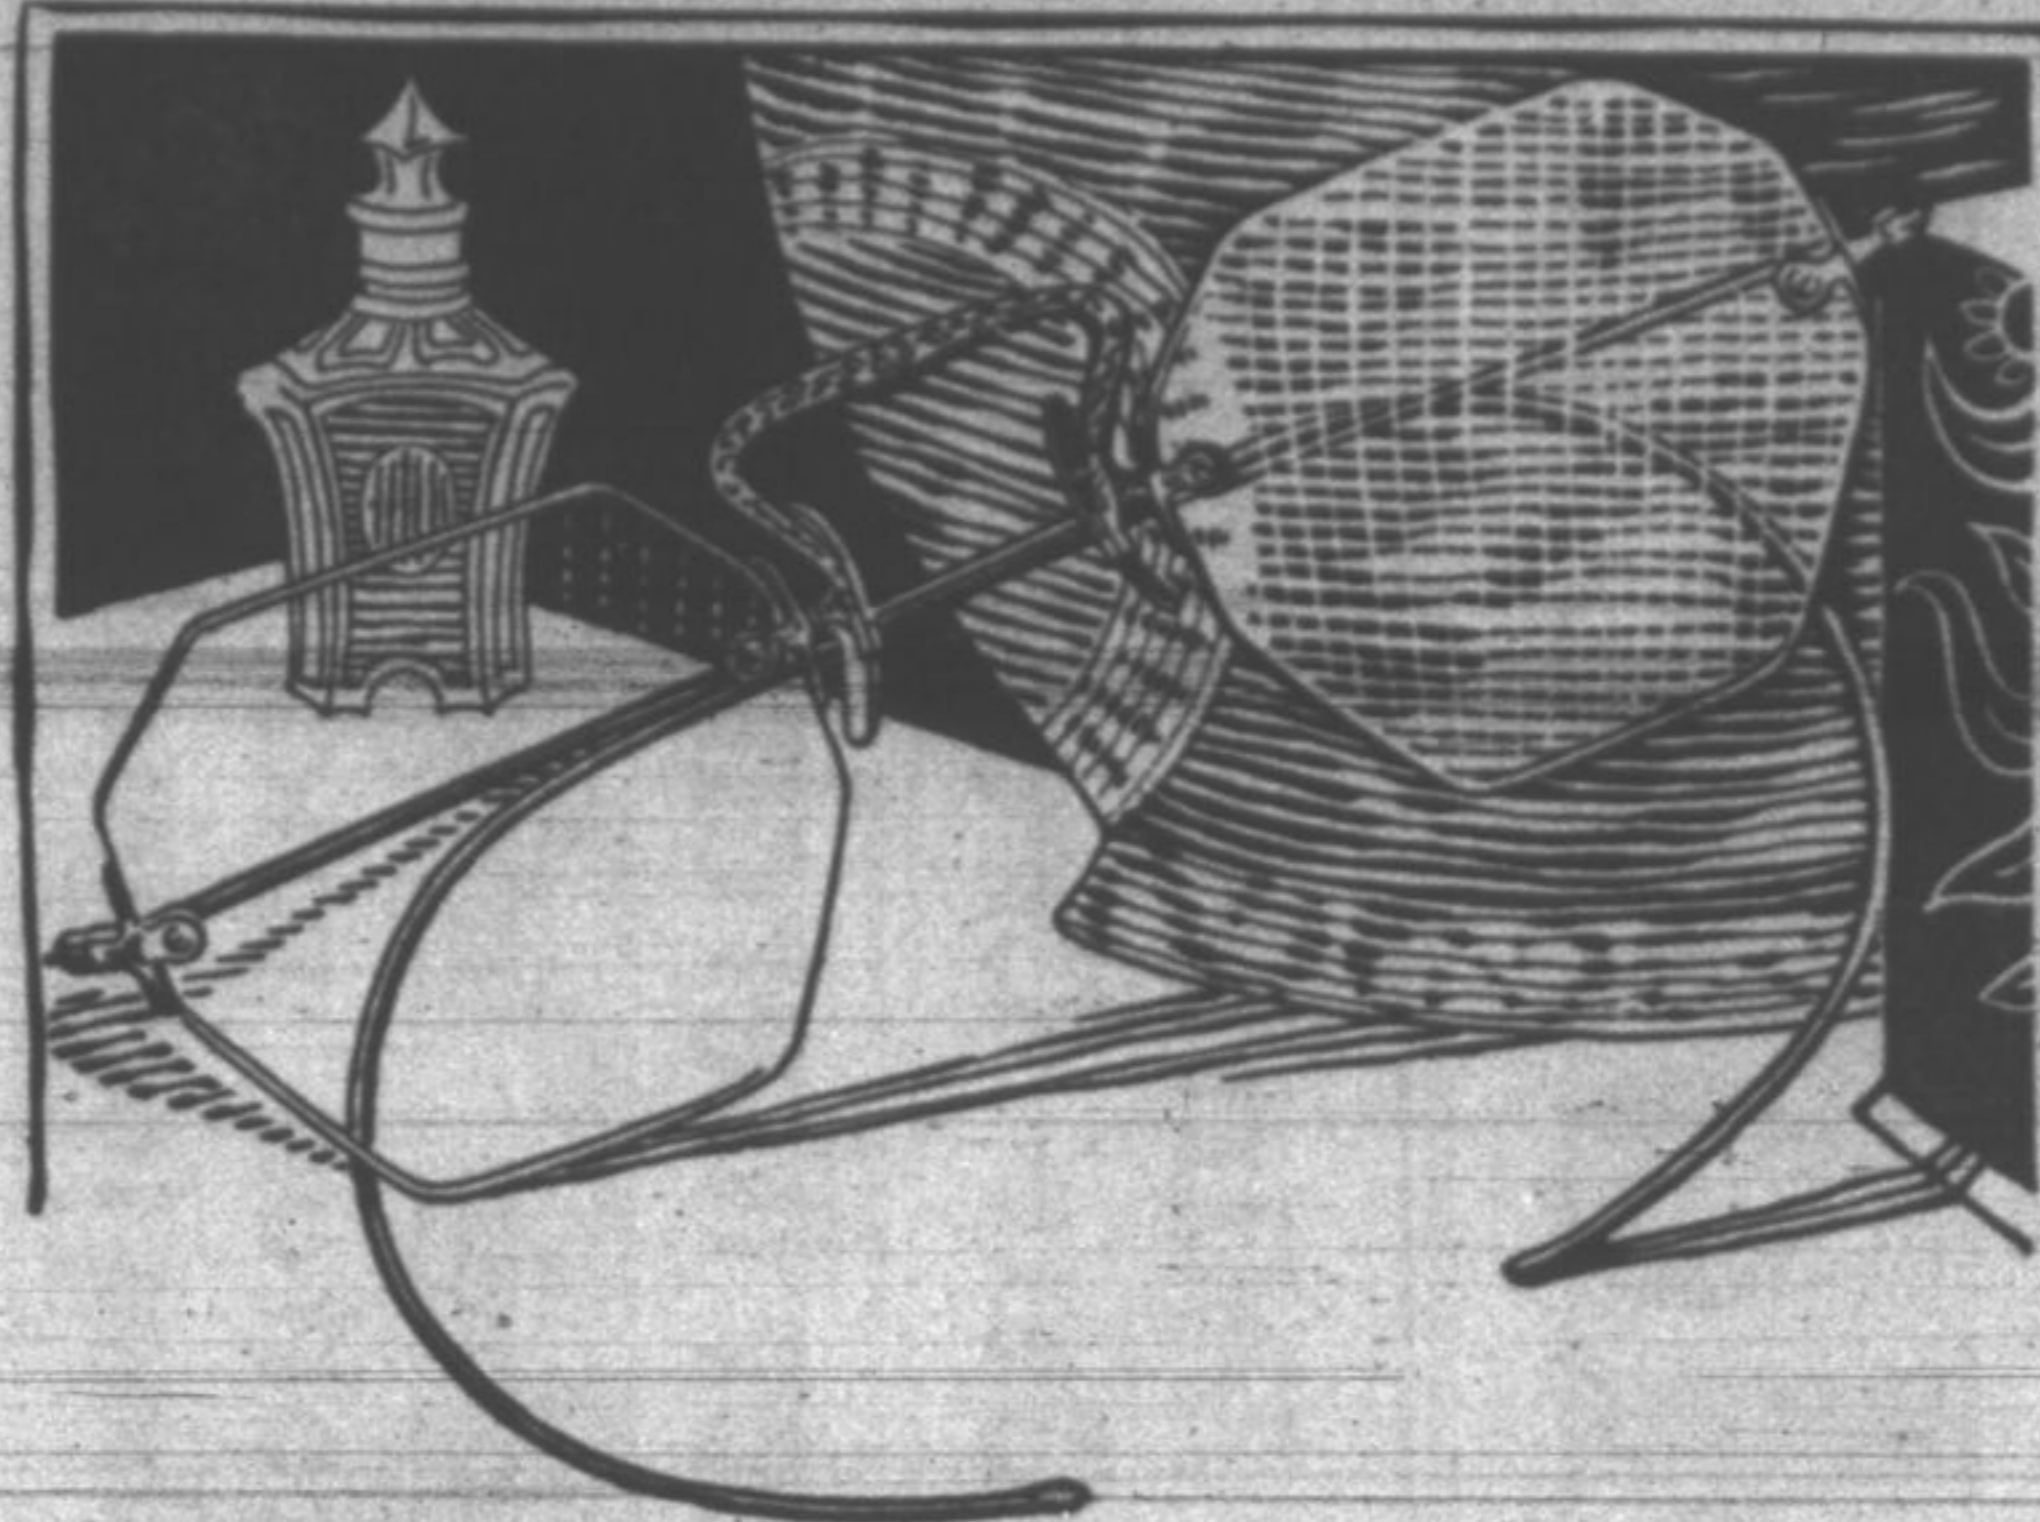

The boys on the entertainment committee of the Boys' club, John Fellows, Brent Wrenn, Richard O'Connor, Roger Taylor, Hugh Seyfarth, Gordon Nielsen, Allison Martin, Frank Straight, Mack Thomas, Clyde Adair, Henry Belfield, and Hugh Wolff, are busy hunting a good speaker for the football banquet which they are planning.

The Suburban Boys' conference is planning to hold its annual get-together at Morton high school, December 14. Deerfield's Boys' club is planning to send a large delegation.

Last year the conference was held at Deerfield. Each school was allowed to send 135 boys, and each put on one act for entertainment.

It has been suggested the Boys' club sponsor entertainment for the boys on stormy days and after school. Ping-pong is one way of entertaining the boys that is being considered. Any other ideas will be gratefully received.
