and has done numerous churches around Chicago. He is a member of the advisory board of the architects' committee which is planning the restoration of the old town of Williamsburg, Virginia. This work is carried on through the generosity of Mr. Rockefeller and, when finished, will be the old town, practically as it was in the seventeenth century.

Mr. Tallmudge has lately been appointed by Governor Emmerson as chairman of the State Board of Art Advisers, which is the Art Commission of Illinois.

Mr. Tallmudge has a great deal of knowledge on the subject of his lecture and knows how to present his material. He will have slides illustrating his talk and it promises to be a most interesting and instructive afternoon.

Club Meeting Nov. 19

All club members are urged to be at the clubhouse promptly at 2:00 p. m. on Tuesday, Nov. 19. Important business will be discussed. The annual memorial service will be observed at 2:30. O. E. Rolvaag will talk on "The Vikings of the Middle West."

Ole Edvart Rolvaag was born on the Island of Donna just south of where the Arctic Circle cuts the coast of Norway. It is interesting to note that Rolvaag took the name of the settlement where he lived, as his own after coming to America. His life has been most unusual. Living the life of a fisherman until twenty, coming to America as a means of escape from that hard, sorrowful life, farming in Dakota and hating that as intensely as fishing, working in a factory, restaurant, and saloon, he finally decided to go to school. Graduating finally from T. Olaf's college he became professor of Norwegian literature there. This year he has a leave of absence to do research work and, by a very special arrangement, will appear here Tuesday. Mr. Rolvaag has written a number of books dealing with Norwegian pioneer life in the northwest. Prominent novels on this subject are "Giants in the Earth," and "Peder Victorious."

Community Garden Class

Steele, 100 Linden Park place. There will be an interesting program by members and discussion of plans for the Chicago Flower show.

A student of criminology out in Chicago says that the wrong kind of food often causes crime. Well, it must be admitted that when the doctor orders a diet of spinach the average fellow feels inclined to choke him.

Experiments at the Iowa State college show that by the addition of common iron rust to the diet of cattle, beneficial results can be obtained. The old car may be put to good use yet.—Minneapolis Journal.

Specimens of Largest Reptile Known Secured by Museum Expedition

Two fine specimens of the largest python, largest reptile in science, are outstanding in the collection made thus far by the Chancellor-Stuart-Field Expedition to the South Pacific, according to Stephen C. Simms, director of the Field Museum of Natural History.

The largest of the two snakes measures 26 feet, Mr. Chancellor says. According to inhabitants of the islands where the pythons were obtained, it is the largest that has been seen in the past eight years, he states. The expedition has secured also 81 python eggs, and material for the study of the python's habitat, for use in constructing an environmental setting for the specimens when they are received at the museum.

The expedition is continuing its work on islands of the Pacific and will probably return to Australia. Many other strange animals are to be sought before the expedition returns to the United States, according to the present schedule. It is expected to be late next February.

Mr. Chancellor is a former newspaper reporter, who had been interested in science, and in his recent inheritance of a fortune left by his grandfather, late F. N. Matthieson, manufacturer of LaSalle, Ill., took the opportunity of organizing this expedition. He had made a particular hobby of collecting reptiles. Associated with him in the leadership of the expedition are Norton Stuart, a naturalist of Barbara, Calif.

Organize Chicago Music Foundation; Aids Civic Opera

On the eve of the opening of the new Chicago Civic Opera house, an announcement came of the formation of the Chicago Music Foundation. Organized under a permanent trust agreement, its trustees are Stanley Field, John F. Gilchrist, R. Graham, Samuel Insull, Jr., George F. Mitchell, Herman Waldeck. Its announced purpose is to collect a fund, the income of which shall be used in producing grand opera in Chicago, in educating and training people in the musical art, and in doing things to make Chicago an operatic musical center.

All the common stock of the Wacker Drive Building corporation in which the Civic Opera house is located, has been donated to the foundation. A substantial amount of the preferred stock has also been donated by private spirited holders. Gifts and bequests of preferred stock by other holders are earnestly solicited by the foundation in order that it may soon be in a position to do efficiently the great work for which it was organized.

While the request is addressed to holders of the preferred stock in the Wacker Drive Building corporation, the foundation is empowered to accept, hold and manage donations of all kinds, that donations of money, securities of any kind are accepted, and that all gifts to the foundation may be accounted for as gifts for charitable and educational purposes.
