Invitation to Business Men
Telephone in for what you want, get the formula you have forgotten, the quotation you can only half remember, the business address you do not know, the word you want defined or correctly pronounced, the place you want located, given you over the telephone—sometimes it is not even necessary to hank up the receiver. If a certain book that you want is not in, ask to be notified when it does come in.

From whom did Jack Johnson take the heavyweight championship in 1908? This question was answered at the library recently to the satisfaction of two men with conflicting views. The information unfortunately cost one of them ten dollars.

Recent Additions

American Art Annual

A kind of who's who in art listing also museums, associations and societies, schools of art in the United States and forming a useful annual for current directory, institutional and biographical information.

Italian Books

About twenty-five new books in Italian have recently been made available at the library. They were bought in Milan through an Italian book house and mailed directly to the library in small packages of three and four. The stamps will be distributed among young collectors who are interested and will ask about them at the children's room desk.

Nobel Prize for Literature

Thomas Mann, widely known German novelist, whose best-known work is "The Magic Mountain," has been awarded this year's Nobel prize for literature.

Mann first achieved national popularity in Germany in 1903 by his great standard work, "Buddenbrooks," which after more than a quarter of a century, remains the most widely read novel in Germany.

His works will be found at the library in the English and German language.

Book Lists

Before buying your gift books for Christmas ask for copies of the following lists available for distribution at the public library.

Recent Children's Books.
Gifts for Children's Book Shelves.
A Girl's Book List.
A Boy's Book List.
Copies of these will be mailed if you will call the library by telephone, Highland Park 812.

A New Children's Book

The morning mail of an author is likely to contain surprising epistles. Ethel Calvert Phillips, whose "Lively Adventures of Johnny Ping Wing" is delighting many primary school children, recently received the following communication: "Dear Miss Teacher, I like Johnny Ping Wing. He good Chinese boy—all Chinese boys good. I like you too. I no like man takes care of me. I come live with you and be your boy. I call new name—Lung Gee Phillips. I run here, I run there for you, like Johnny Ping Wing. Say yer, dear Teacher. Your boy, Lung Gee."

There is no time in one's life when right reading is so important as in one's childhood.—Padriac Colum, poet, dramatist.

The Public Library will be closed Thanksgiving Day.

A good workman keeps his tools free from rust and regularly adds new equipment to increase his efficiency. Your mind is your bread winner. Do you give it the attention the workman gives his tools? You can keep it informed of the latest practices and developments in your profession by reading new books.

ROSEHILL MAUSOLEUM

Have You Inspected the New Addition?

For the fourth time it has been found necessary to increase the number of family memorial rooms in Rosehill Mausoleum. The finest marbles, the finest bronze, and the finest architectural skill have gone into the making of this new cathedral-like sanctuary where the names and remains of your dear ones may be preserved forever without change. The New Addition is, of course, assured of everlasting care, replacement, and protection by the same two mighty trust funds and the same irrevocable State Charter that guard the older sections of Rosehill Mausoleum.

Visit Rosehill some day this week—inspect the many suitable arrangements. Select one that meets your needs—the charges are very reasonable. Don't, above all things, leave this family duty to chance. Write for, or receive in person, the free booklet, "Rosehill the Beautiful." This in no way obligates you.

For those who prefer ground burial we have a very large selection of family lots for two graves or more at most reasonable prices, all under Perpetual Care.
