Two different groups of the church-school are preparing and rehearsing for Christmas cantatas. The senior group will present their cantata on the Sunday evening before Christmas while the younger group will present their program in connection with the service on Christmas Eve.

Nothing definite can be said as to the program for the little children. Sickness among the children makes it very difficult to plan anything. But if circumstances permit either a program or a Christmas party will be given for the little folks.

Sunday, December 15, the pastor will be in Indianapolis, Indiana to preach at the dedication of his brother's new church. Services at the St. Paul's church on that Sunday will be held as usual.

Shakespeare said that love is blind and when you look over some of the things which the dear girls pick as husbands you have to admit that William knew his cupid.

Lecture on Bolshevism to Be Given Friday Eve

Under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society Miss Elizabeth Knauss, of Davenport, Iowa, will speak on, "The Menace of Bolshevism," at the First United Evangelical church, Greenbay road and Laurel avenue, at 7:45 o'clock on Friday evening of this week.

A letter dated at Howell, Michigan,

March 14, 1929, signed by A. W. Ambrose, pastor of the First Baptist church, says, "I am pleased to speak a word in appreciation of the message brought by Miss Elizabeth Knauss to my people, and also at a union service, last Sunday. Miss Knauss' address on "The Menace of Bolshevism" held the very close attention of the audience. She speaks with the earnestness and the evidence that carries conviction with her statements. The Menace of Bolshevism, as she presents it, one s made to feel is very real. The message is one that deserves a hearing by every parent and patriotic American."

A cordial invitation is extended the people to hear Miss Knauss.

It is said that the sponsors of the new world bank to handle reparations want to establish it some place where it will be free from political influences. We suggest that they locate it in Indiana.
