Pupils Gave Fine Piano Recital Last Monday

The piano recital by pupils of Miss Frances Biederstadt given at the Presbyterian church Monday evening, demonstrated not only what can be done in private lessons, but in class had come out of class instruction and lessons as well. Five of the pupils in no way could their performance be found to be inferior to the others; as they showed the same tone quality, perfect rhythm and strict adherence to the musical phase of the composition. This is a distinct advancement in the art of teaching piano, as many pupils benefit by being in a groups and retain their interest in the subject when it often becomes lax without the stimulus of close competition which class instruction gives. Of especial interest were the two piano pieces, of which there were four and the eight-hand arrangement of a "Valse Impromptu" by Seybold.

The beautiful basket of flowers were from the G. L. Sorensen shops. Among those participating in the program were: Sara and Philip Getty, Betty Muhlke, Frederick Piepenbrok, Marilyn Gooder, Voneta Frost, Barbara Ashman, Walton Reeds, Shirley Varner, Marjorie Bruggman, Duncan Reeds, John Engstrom, Helen Engstrom, Grace Varner, Charles Kapschull, Gladys Scheskie, Arlene Mentzer, Julie Huy, Mabel Kinley, David Stryker, Edgeley Todd, Eleanor Bruggman, Virginia Farmer, Jane Agnew, Mrs. Engstrom, Beatrice Huyg, Carl Kinley and Pearl Stanley.

Survey's Contagious Situation in Deerfield
