CIRCUIT THEATRE, NEW NAME CHOSEN

North Shore Theatre Guild Has Adopted This Title; Gets Valuable Rights

An announcement has been made by the North Shore Theatre Guild Inc., that it has entered into an agreement with the Theatre Guild Inc. of New York, which will be of interest to all the subscribers to the guild and its many friends.

For several years, in fact ever since the New York Theatre Guild began sending its plays out of New York for performance on the road, the New York organization has protested the use of the word "Guild" in the name of any amateur dramatic organization. And since they have been having regular performances in Chicago, the New York Theatre guild have brought pressure to bear on the north shore organization for its use of this term. No question has ever existed in the minds of the local board of directors about the property of their original use of the word, but since confusion has several times been caused by the similarity in names, which has not been pleasant, the North Shore Theatre guild has of late recognized the desirability of giving way to the claims of the New Yorkers.

To Avoid Confusion

Accordingly, the directorate of the North Shore Theatre guild voted to choose a new name for the organization, and the name selected in the Circuit Theatre association of the north shore. In all other respects the organization will be the North Shore Theatre guild. The policies, the personnel, the studio and its activities, all will remain unchanged, and it is anticipated that the new name will increase in popularity with usage, and that before long the north shore resident will speak as easily of the Circuit theatre as he has of the Theatre guild.

Obtains Rights

But the agreement does not stop there. In return for this, the New (Continued on Page 56)

New Fire Apparatus Proves Efficient in Test Here on Tuesday

The city's new American-La France pumper for the fire department was given official test Tuesday by the Illinois Bureau of Inspection engineers at Webber's pond, near the Sunset Valley golf course. The new pumper, according to Fire Chief Hoskin, met every requirement. It's scheduled capacity of 750 gallons a minute and it held at an average maximum of from 760 to 770 gallons a minute. A number of visiting fire chiefs from neighboring towns on the north shore attended the test.

The new apparatus is stationed in the new fire station at Ravinia, where two platoons of firemen are installed. Platoon No. 1 includes William Cummings, assistant chief; John Patten, driver, and George Coffman, pipeman. Platoon No. 2 consists of William Henning, captain; John Boylan, driver; Charles Robinson, pipeman.

It is planned to have an official opening of the Ravinia fire station the latter part of this month, and preparations are under way, it is reported, for a big celebration.

Highwood Police Get Tip, But Find All O. K.

Acting on a tip from Chicago police that a telephone call from St. Joseph, Mich. to Highwood had carried conversation about the lake front bungalow occupied by Frederick Burke, wanted for the seven Moran gang slayings, the killing of a St. Joseph policeman and numerous robberies, Police Chief Henderson of Highwood led a squad of police from Highland Park to the residence at 50 Michigan avenue, Highwood, and questioned Fred Weiss, the occupant.

Weiss admitted getting a call from St. Joe, but explained that the call came from his father the original owner of the now famous lake shore home of Burke the killer. The elder Weiss had sold the house to Burke and had received only $1,000 in payment for it. When the trouble arose and Burke was revealed as a master-slayer, the elder Weiss went to St. Joseph to regain possession of his place. From there he phoned his son.

Weiss, widely known in Highwood, has been manager of an A and P store there for the past six years and is above suspicion.

Ice Skating Opens Road to Happiness and Health; Adults Enjoy It Too

By F. V. Degenhardt

Ice-skating offers a perfect "escape" from all anxieties. It tunes up the digestion, and limbers up the muscles that have been dormant since the close of the golf season, in fact, causes you to discover some that you never knew you had before. Secrets of co-ordination and muscular relaxation are learned. Fresh blood is sent tingling to the finger tips, while the lungs drink in an abundance of fresh oxygen. The stale air absorbed in loop buildings and overheated houses is banished. You feel conscious of a sparkling vitality,—your mind is carefree. Ice-skating is indeed the perfect recreation. In it one finds play and exercise in perfect balance. You are thrown into a carnival spirit, and all about you hear the happy, joyous laughter of youth. No need to consult beauty specialists, for first you must cultivate good health, and ice-skating, above all things, opens the door to that precious estate. Deep restful sleep, and normal hunger belong to the skater. If you feel tired and sluggish the chances are that you have been breathing a lot of devitalized air. Scare up the old skates, and then just check up on your "pep" for a few days after you have joined the merry parade of ice-skaters. It may (Continued on Page 62)
