

F. D. CLAVY, PIONEER NURSERYMAN, IS DEAD

Passes Suddenly Monday Evening in Florida; Funeral Here on Sunday Afternoon

Final rites for F. D. Clavey, pioneer nurseryman and widely known resident of this community, whose sudden death Monday evening in Lakeland, Florida was a shock to his legion of friends all over the north shore, will be held Sunday afternoon, from his late home on Clavey road, Highland Park, at 1:30 o'clock, and at 2 o'clock at St. Paul's Evangelical church, Deerfield. Burial will be in the Northfield cemetery. The Rev. F. G. Piepenbrook will officiate.

News of Mr. Clavey's death was received with widespread sorrow and the sympathy of their many friends reached his sons and daughters in hundreds of anxious inquiries and expressions of regret, and indications are that the funeral will be one of the largest ever held in this section.

Mr. Clavey went to Florida early in December. He had been suffering from heart trouble for a year or more, but was able to be about and took always a personal interest in extensive business interests of his company, the F. D. Clavey, Ravinia Nurseries, which is nationally known. Reports from his son Raymond and daughter, Miss Amanda Clavey, who were with him in the south were reassuring, and his older son, Elmer L. Clavey, vice-president of the company, was planning to join them about the end of this week.

Then came the stunning news of the father's sudden death while attending a theatre in Lakeland at 7 o'clock Monday evening. The report received was that he and his son and daughter and one or two friends, including a physician, a heart specialist, were seated in the theatre together. Mr. Clavey, amused at some situation in the show, laughed heartily, and in a moment was dead. The physician attended him instantly, but he was beyond human aid.

Family History

F. D. Clavey was born Jan. 15, 1863, in Hanover, Germany. He came to America in 1867 with his parents, who made their home at Glenview. (Continued on Page 36)

8th District Meeting of Legion Auxiliary

Libertyville unit will be hostess to the Eighth District of the American Legion Auxiliary on the evening of February 5 at 8 o'clock at the Village hall. Libertyville post will entertain the Lake County Council of the American Legion the same evening at a smoker in the dining room of the building during the Auxiliary business session after which the Council will join the Auxiliary to hear Col. Edwin Marshall Hadley, author of "Sinister Shadows." His address will be called "Sinister Shadows," outlining the influences that are at work in our colleges and schools, belittling patriotism and idealism.

Let the Eighth District of the American Legion Auxiliary be one hundred per cent in attendance. An attendance prize will be awarded the unit sending the largest delegation.

Friends of Our Native Landscape Meet at Ravinia Tuesday Eve

The annual dinner and business meeting of the Illinois chapter of Friends of Our Native Landscape, an organization devoted to preservation of natural beauty and wild life through creation of state and national parks, was held in the Ravinia community house on Tuesday evening, Jan. 21. Approximately 100 persons were present, including residents of many north shore communities. A party of 40 members made the trip from Chicago to Ravinia aboard a special car over the North Shore line.

Among the projects in which the organization is taking an active interest is the move to create a state park out of the dune territory along the north shore, generally known as the Waukegan flats. Various other spots throughout the state also have been projected as ideal locations for state parks. A campaign for the preservation of wild flowers along railroad right-of-way is also being conducted by the organization. Jens Jensen of Wilmette is president and E. L. Wheeler of Evanston, secretary of the Illinois chapter.

Women's Clubs Aiding Chicago Flower Show Plans for Next Spring

On January 1 entries have been received from forty-seven women's clubs in the club competitions of the Chicago Garden and Flower Show to be held at the Hotel Sherman March 28 to April 5, 1930. As none of the classes had been filled and many clubs requested permission to enter at a later date, it was decided to hold the entries open in each class until the available space had been filled. There is room for eighty clubs each making five entries, and as it is expected the space will be taken rapidly, clubs contemplating entries are urged not to delay, says a bulletin from Federation headquarters.

On January 4 the distribution of tickets to clubs that have entered the show, and those taking part in the advance ticket sale contest was begun in the Hotel Sherman, under the direction of Harlan Ware. Twenty clubs entered the contest on the first day; and tickets may be obtained at Mr. Ware's office in the Hotel Sherman at any time.

On January 13 at Illinois Federation of Women's club headquarters, 30 West Washington street, a demonstration of the miniature garden and sunparlor contests was given. Every two weeks thereafter, demonstrations of contests are scheduled until all have been covered by professional advisers. At the January 13 meeting the plan of the model suburb which is to be constructed out of the miniature gardens entered in the club contest was exhibited. Jacob L. Crane, Jr., the famous landscape architect and town planner, made the plan which embodies the latest ideas in residence-suburbs. A community park and playground communicates with the rear of every lot.

Mrs. Arch Abercromby entertained fourteen guests at a supper party on Sunday. The out of town guests were from Chicago, Des Plaines and Deerfield.

"Life in Alaska" Is Subject of Lecture

Mrs. Grace Hainline, who is rapidly acquiring a reputation on the platform, is going to give her well-known lecture on "Life in Alaska," in the post chapel, at Fort Sheridan, on Wednesday evening, February 5, 1930, at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Hainline has lived in Alaska and Northern Canada for 13 years, north of the Arctic Circle. For six years she was the only white woman alive to have traveled the whole length of the Mackenzie river in a scow, a distance of 2700 miles.

Mrs. Hainline's experiences are unique, for instead of merely chasing into the Arctic, she has lived there, making a home in the ordinary pioneer sense. She lived there as the wife of a Nomad Trapper and Fur Trader, in places where no other white men, have lived. She tells of long trips driving her own dog teams, of the Indians and Eskimos; their modes of living, customs and habits. She gives vivid descriptions of break-up of the Yukon and Mackenzie rivers, Northern Lights and the Midnight Sun.

This is not a cut and dried lecture, but her life as she lived it there, and the people as she saw them. It is both personal and educational. A most unusual talk which is enthusiastically vouched for by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, noted scientist and Arctic explorer. Tickets may be obtained from members of the club or at the door.
