Boone County Man to Run for Legislature

For the first time in many years Boone county will have more than one candidate for state representative with the announcement late last week of the candidacy of John Fair of Belvidere, former sheriff and supervisor.

Fair is regarded as a strong candidate because of his active and meritorious participation in public affairs, and his entrance in the race is regarded as a help to McHenry county's two farm candidates. Carroll and Palmer, who are expected to benefit by a split vote in their neighbor county.

Representative N. L. Jackson of Boone county has already announced his candidacy for re-election.

Enters Bible Institute
Gordon C. Olson, 109 S. Second street, has recently enrolled for the winter term at the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago where he will take training in Bible courses and methods of Christian work. The institute reports the largest enrollment for five years.

Two small springs create surprising results

Call it a harmonized steering system if you like. Or say that the last faint flickerings of "shimmy" are out. However you phrase it, the facts are that two coil springs on the left front shackle make steering velvety, smooth—and even less tiring than before. Take the wheel of a Cadillac, La Salle or Fleetwood and test this important new improvement for yourself. You'll like it. When may we place a car at your disposal? We'd like to have you try out all the fundamental betterments that place these new models years ahead of the field.
