

LIBRARY

The record of new books and new editions published in the United States in 1930 went over the 10,000 mark, according to a recent issue of the Publishers' Weekly. The output of Great Britain is even greater.

It has been said that librarians are people who try to keep their fellow men from reading what they want to read — a remark which we regard as hilariously funny. Our earnest critic must admit that some work of sifting and selection is necessary, when he considers that there are in print in this country, selling in the regular trade channels, more than 300,000 different books, to say nothing of thousands of others available and selling briskly in the second-hand trade.

Our own library can usually purchase something more than 2200 volumes each year (not different titles, as some duplicates must be bought), so the fact can be readily appreciated that even after the good, the true and the beautiful have been laboriously separated from their opposites, we must constantly ask ourselves, not which of these attractive, timely and truly useful books do we need, but which do we need the very most.

The greatest help in filling the gaps of standard titles comes from those who use the library. Tell the assistant at the desk of any title which you want but do not find.

- New Reference Books
 Encyclopedia Britannica, Ed. 14.
 World Almanac, 1930.
 American Men of Science, Ed. 4.
Women with Imagination
 Life of an Ordinary Woman
 by Mrs. Anne Ellis

Anne Ellis has written this story of her life modestly and has tried to make it a true picture of the mining camp life of which she was a part, and thereby she has added something to the story of the West as well as told an appealing and thrilling tale of how one woman faced the adventure of living.

Grandmother Brown's Hundred Years
 by Mrs. H. D.

Maria Foster Brown is a good subject for such a biography, not only because she lived to be a hundred, but because, in an extraordinary way, she had garnered her experiences, has sifted and sorted them, and was able to bring them forth ripened by the sunshine of her own homely wisdom. No great men came her way; she witnessed no world-shaking events. She lived long, worked hard, observed sharply, and felt deeply.

Alice Mynell; a Memoir
 by Mrs. J. D. Meynell

Superior persons who declare that no literary good ever came out of journalism will have to deal with the facts reiterated in Alice Mynell—facts always known, but sometimes forgotten, and here presented with added emphasis and wealth of detail. From almost a half century of journalism came her poetry.

Forty Books for Boys and Girls

But adventure often lurks in country dooryards hidden by the lilacs of New England, or in quiet valley shadowed by Alpine peaks. Such adventure may be found in Little Men and Little Women, in Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm, in Understood Betsy, with Heidi playing with the goats on the Swiss mountain slopes; or, of a more masculine variety, in Tom Sawyer, in Huckleberry Finn, in The Story of a Bad Boy, in Hans Brinker, of Holland, and in Master Skylark, of Shakespearean England. Adventure, mingled with many a hardship overcome, also may be found in Nicholas' Boys' Life of Abraham Lincoln. Even a child by himself in a garden may have adventures, the best of all perhaps, if he be of the stuff of the child alone in Stevenson's A Child's Garden of Verses.

- 27. Little Men, Louise M. Alcott.
- 28. Little Women, Louisa M. Alcott.
- 29. Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm, Kate Douglas Wiggin.
- 30. Understood Betsy, Dorothy Canfield.
- 31. Heidi, Johanna Spyri.
- 32. The Adventures of Tom Sawyer, Mark Twain.
- 33. The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, Mark Twain.
- 34. The Story of a Bad Boy, Thomas Bailey Aldrich.
- 35. Hans Brinker, or the Silver Skates, Mary Mapes Dodge.
- 36. Master Skylark, John Bennett.
- 37. The Boys' Life of Abraham Lincoln, Helen Nicolay.
- 38. A Child's Garden of Verse, by Robert Louis Stevenson.

A Canadian who has been around the world eight times has just been married. He will be convinced that he didn't know anything till now, in spite of his travels.

GASOLINE

GET your supply of oil, gas and grease here before you start out. Do not wait until you get out on the road. You may have to pay more.

"Service with a Smile"

ELM-PLACE-SERVICE-STA

PHONE HIGHLAND PARK 3545

COR-ELM PL & 1ST ST.

Local and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig and daughter Patricia of South Green Bay road leave Saturday for Aiken, S.C.

Mrs. Carl B. Hecker of Wildwood lane entertained at tea Tuesday afternoon for her sister Mrs. Worlton who is her guest.

Mrs. Walter Henderson of Prairie avenue, who has been very ill for the past three weeks with bronchial pneumonia is getting along nicely now and is able to be around again.

Mr. Jesse Jones, postmaster of Rantoul, who was attending a meeting of the aviation section of the American Legion as delegate from Rantoul, visited the Walter Cope family last Saturday.

Mrs. George H. Arnold of South St. Johns avenue, entertained at a bridge luncheon last Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Roberta Kane of Cleveland, Ohio, will arrive tomorrow to visit her cousin, Mrs. W. H. Bartel.

Miss Esther Ludwig of South Green Bay road entertained the Rho Alpha Delta at her home Monday evening.

Mrs. Richard Heath of Roslyn circle has gone to Florida for a few weeks' sojourn.

Mrs. Ingram Rasmussen entertained at a bridge-luncheon Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Hastings and Miss Ada M. Moore left last Tuesday for Edgewater Park, Miss., for a few weeks' vacation.

Mrs. Dorothy Clark and Lucienne Reichardt will represent the Highland Park branch of the Columbia School of Music at a formal recital at the main school in Chicago, March 2, at 2 p.m.

Mrs. J. P. O'Connell will entertain the members of her bridge club at her home on Ridgewood drive on Friday. There will be two tables.

The R. C. Camerons' children of Highwood are seriously ill with scarlet fever.

The arts committee of the Ravinia Woman's club held its annual meeting Wednesday noon at the home of Mrs. Ralph Fletcher Seymour.

Mr. Guernsey LePelley spent the week-end in Mount Carroll visiting his sister, Priscilla, who is a student in the Frances Shimer school there.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving F. Conrad of St. Louis came by aeroplane on Friday to spend the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Conrad of 128 McGovern street. They made the trip in three hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Conrad and daughter Edna of Waukegan were the guests on Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Evans of Central avenue.

Mr. J. L. Crane, who was on the sick list last week, is able to be around again.

Lincoln Market

519 Central Avenue

Phone Highland Park 3140

SWIFT'S PREMIUM SLICED BACON	42c
POUND
SHORT LEG of the Finest Spring Lamb	32c
POUND
FINEST RIB LAMB CHOPS	42c
POUND
BEST NATIVE ROUND STEAK	45c
POUND
SWIFT'S GOLDEN WEST HENS	37c
POUND
SHORT LEG of the Finest Milk Fed Veal	32c
POUND
SWIFT'S PREMIUM FRANKFURTERS	30c
POUND
FINEST NATIVE POT ROAST	32c
POUND

Shop here and you will get 16 ounces to every pound, and the very highest quality of meats and poultry