A CHAT WITH LOCAL MOTORISTS

By H. W. Sheahen

The most neglected and abused unit — and still the most necessary part of your car is the battery; and for some unexplained reason, the manufacturers of motor cars insist on putting the battery underneath the seat or floor boards, where it is exposed to the cold, slush, mud, dirt, and the elements. Being in this out of the way place, it catches all the dirt from the road, making it rather messy.

Sometimes, you take up the floor boards with the intention of watering the battery but when you see what a messy job it is, you think, "Oh, well, I'll wait and do it some other time. I guess it's alright yet." Then when you least expect it, your lights or starter refuse to work. This usually happens when you are a long way from help—or late at night after your car has been parked with the lights on, and you are in a hurry to get home. As the battery had been so faithful, you had never given it a thought for months. But why wait so long?

What you should do is to have your battery and all the connections checked, cleaned, and the corrosion removed from the battery posts and terminals, because this corrosion causes seventy per cent of your trouble, for it gets so bad that the current can not get through them.

Realizing that this part of your car is usually neglected, it has been our policy always to look after your battery for flushing when your car is brought to us for oiling, greasing, etc., thus taking the worry off your mind.

While this is fresh in your mind, why not make it a point to have this part of your car looked after at some reliable garage that you can depend on.

We have a battery department with all the latest facilities for giving prompt and efficient battery service.

Although the county superintendent supervises only the rural schools, Mr. Petty feels that the qualifications of such an official should be equivalent at least to that of the teacher whom he supervises.

The candidate believes that the office of county superintendent of schools should be divorced from politics.

Your vote for Prin. W. C. Petty for county superintendent of schools will be a vote for greater efficiency and more equalized educational opportunities for Lake county children.
