POSTPONE MEETING OF TROOP NO. 61

No troop meeting could be held on March 24, because of the deep snow and most of the scouts were snowed in. No certain date is set for this week's meeting although it will be soon if the scouts can get out. Plans are being made for the Hobby Show on April 12.—Reporter Woodrow Wilson Troop 61, Civic association, Northbrook.

WHAT IT MEANS TO BE A SCOUT

Scouting is a great thing for boys. It helps them to grow up to be respectful citizens. It teaches a scout to be trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent. You learn about woodcraft and other useful things. You also learn how to take care of yourself when you are lost. There are merit badges you get for doing certain things. You learn a great deal of a number of things.—Reporter George Anderson, Troop 61, Civic association.

GLENVIEW SCOUT MEETING NOTES

We opened by presenting the colors and giving the scout laws and oath. Scoutmaster Raymond Danielson saw that every scout in the troop must know the two bandages, head and sling, and a tourniquet. They had a first aid competition between two patrols. William Casper and Jimmie Appleyard being victims. A business meeting was held and the Hobby Show discussed. We closed at 9:00 with scout benediction.—John Woods, reporter of Troop 55, Glenview school.

TROOP NO. 33 HAS "SAFETY MOVIES"

The scouts of Troop 33, who were late to the meeting on Friday, March 28, missed a lot, because we had four reels of motion pictures. The first two reels were on "Safety," showing how accidents happen on stairs, sidewalks, and passages, and also how to prevent them. The third reel was entitled "Babes in the Woods." It showed how a patrol of scouts found two little children who had wandered away and became lost in the forest. The last reel was a picture showing the thrills and dangers of the arctic, and was entitled "David goes to Baffin Land." We saw how the party lived on their small ship, and how they almost captured a polar bear. After the movies, the troop was dismissed so that some of the boys could attend the Board of Review at the City hall.—Roderic Smith, reporter

Troop 33, Lincoln school, Highland Park.

TROOP NO. 30 DOES GOOD TURN

Last Wednesday the Boy Scouts of Troop 30 met. After the roll call was taken they all went out to shovel snow away from fire hydrants. The troop split up. Mr. St. Peter took two patrols and Mr. Udell the other two. They shoveled about 25 hydrants around the business district.—Charles Tyson, reporter Troop 30, Elm Place school, Highland Park.

SCOUTS GUESTS AT DEERPATH THEATRE

On Friday, March 14, 20 fellows of Troop 30 visited the Deerpath theatre in Lake Forest by the courtesy of the management. The picture was the "Lone Star Ranger," and it was enjoyed by everyone and we owe a vote of thanks to the Deerpath theatre. We rode up and back in cars and all together it was a fine evening.—Chris Keller, reporter Troop 30, Elm Place school Highland Park.

ENTERTAINS JUNIOR OFFICERS AT DINNER

Last Wednesday Milton St. Peter, assistant scoutmaster; Mr. St. Peter, chairman of the committee, the patrol leaders, senior patrol leader, and the scribe went to Mr. Udell's house for dinner. We discussed plans for a contest between the patrols. By the beginning of June the two patrols with the most second class scouts will be treated by the other two patrols. We are all thankful to Mr. Udell for the fine time.—Charles Tyson, reporter Troop 30, Elm Place school Highland Park.

INTERESTING BOOK FOR BOY SCOUTS

There is an interesting book written for Scouts by Russel Gordon Garter. He writes stories for the Scout Magazine, Boys' life and Mr. Carter knows boys from A to Z. The book is "Three Points of Honor." Its main character is Rodney Owen. Rodney is a lad of 15 who loses both his mother and father through illness. Rodney then goes to Boston and lives with his uncle. His fondest ambition is to go to Annapolis. Neither his uncle or he have much money. Does he get to Annapolis or not? It tells about it in "Three Points of Honor." There are also some snappy basketball games in the book. It is published by Little Brown and company, Boston and won the 4,000 Boys' Life competition prize. — Richard Thormeyer, editor in chief, Northbrook.

TROOP NO. 61 HAS THIRTY-TWO SCOUTS

Troop 61 of Northbrook has a full troop of 32 boys. We have found patrols of eight boys each and a cub patrol. The names are the Arrow Hawks and Silver Foxes. Robert Eldert's patrol and George Pagels' patrol have not yet chosen a name.

The Cub patrol has chosen the name Wolverine.—Lewis Cooksy, reporter of Troop 61, Civic association, Northbrook.

NORTHBROOK PRESS CLUB HAS MEETING

On Friday afternoon of March 28 the Northbrook Press club held its regular meeting. Those present were assistant scout executive, Philip Masslich, Richard Thormeyer, Woodrow Wilson, George Anderson and Lewis Cooksy. We had a discussion first after which we wrote our news articles. Richard Thormeyer was chosen editor. The meeting was adjourned at quarter to three.—Reporter Lewis Cooksy, Troop 61, Northbrook Civic association.

PEGASUS PATROL TROOP 35, RAVINIA

The patrol met on Monday, March 31. Some of the fellows passed their safety, compass, etc., for second class. We discussed our exhibits for the hobby show and gave out tickets to be sold for the hobby show. We closed with the scout benediction.—James M. Ewell, patrol leader, Troop 35, Ravinia.
