Fiori Awarded Prize for Italian Garden

The Italian garden, designed by Charles Fiori, and being shown this week at the Central States Flower and Garden Show, at the Chicago Stadium, won special mention and the silver loving cup, second prize, which in reality is equivalent, or beter than the first prize, which went to a New York gardener.

Mr. Fiori's garden is well planned, and altho the space allotted is not very large, the arrangement is not crowded nor overdone. Highland Park should feel proud of their local gardeners.

If You Could
Look Into the Future

YOU certainly would not plan to plunge your wife into business. You would rather have her free to guide the education and future of your children than burdened with the management of your estate. You would give your wife more leisure and freedom as she grows older.

If this is the way you feel, you will want to talk to our trust officer—for through the services of this institution you can plan for the future of your loved ones. You can give the maximum of protection with the minimum of expense and responsibility on their part.
