

EXHIBIT OF OUTDOOR LIFE ON THIS WEEK

Notable Exposition in Coliseum Chicago; Indians, Wild Game; Other Features

Mountains, woods and lakes, and all their appeal to the prospective summer vacationer came to Chicago, May 5, with the opening of the eighth annual National Outdoor Life Exposition and Motor Boat show in the Coliseum. The exposition will continue six days, ending Saturday night, May 10.

Four states, the largest representation in the history of the exposition, have exhibits, along with Canadian summer resorts, and the total number of exhibits runs above 100. A Paul Bunyan museum containing many articles of enormous size used by the famous giant-hero of north woods lumber men is a new feature of the 1930 Exposition. In the display of Paul Bunyan are the wheels of his sulky, each nearly 10 feet in diameter, the barrel from which ink was run through a hose to the fountain pen of Johnny Ink Slinger. Bunyan's scribe, and other articles of Gargantuan size.

In connection with this new feature, a contest is held for those who have stories to tell concerning the exploits of the great Bunyan, with a prize going to the one telling the best story.

Indians and wild animals roam the Coliseum which is transformed into a vast woodland for the exposition. A dozen Ojibwa Indians from northern Wisconsin entertain all five days of the show with native war dances and other ceremonies in full regalia. The State of Wisconsin has sent its State Game Farm wild turkeys and other fowl and game indigenous to northern Wisconsin. Wild turkeys formerly found in that state in great abundance were all but extinct until the Game Farm released a large number this spring. Geese, mallard, pheasants and wild ducks, racoons, badgers, porcupine, mink and skunks to be seen in the Wisconsin exhibit.

Quartet of Soloists Listed on Program of Civic Choral Concert

The quartette of soloists that has been selected for the May 25 concert in the Studebaker theater by the Chicago Civic and the Waukegan Civic Choral societies will be heard in "Be True" a composition of exceptional merit by the well-known Chicago composer, Eleanor Everest Freer. Mrs. Freer has composed and presented many operas, choruses, piano compositions and vocal numbers to the Chicago public, she is also very well known through her work for the American Opera Society of Chicago.

The quartette for the Civic Choral societies concert consists of: Miss Nila Franks Weir, soprano; Miss Esther Lea Cole, contralto; J. Herbert Levis, tenor and I. Francis Lee, bass. These soloists were all chosen for the solo positions by the secret committee of the International Civic Choral societies under whose direction the choral concert will be given.

Carl Behnke, is accompanist for the Chicago organization, and Sadie Boyles, is the accompanist for the Waukegan society.

The International Civic Choral societies, Ambrose Wyrick, director-general, is the central organization that is organizing a chain of choral societies, with the aim of 500 such societies extending throughout the entire country, and eventually around the world, with the slogan of "Make America is a musical and cultural nation, and that our district is the center of the musical activity of the world, to the millions of visitors that are expected to throng our region for the Century of Progress to be held in Chicago in 1933.

James H. Nibelink, father of Building Commissioner W. H. Nibelink, of Waukegan died last week after an illness of over a year. Besides his wife, Nellie, he is survived by three sons, Walter H., Ray R., and Oliver H. Nibelink.

Repairing Fire Damage at Waukegan Warehouse

Work of repairing damage caused by fire which broke out in the carpenter shop of the Blatchford Calf Meal company, at the foot of Madison street Waukegan, 10 days ago, damaging equipment stored there, was started this morning, J. E. Eams, official of the company, stated today. Damage will not exceed $7,000, he asserted, and is fully covered by insurance.

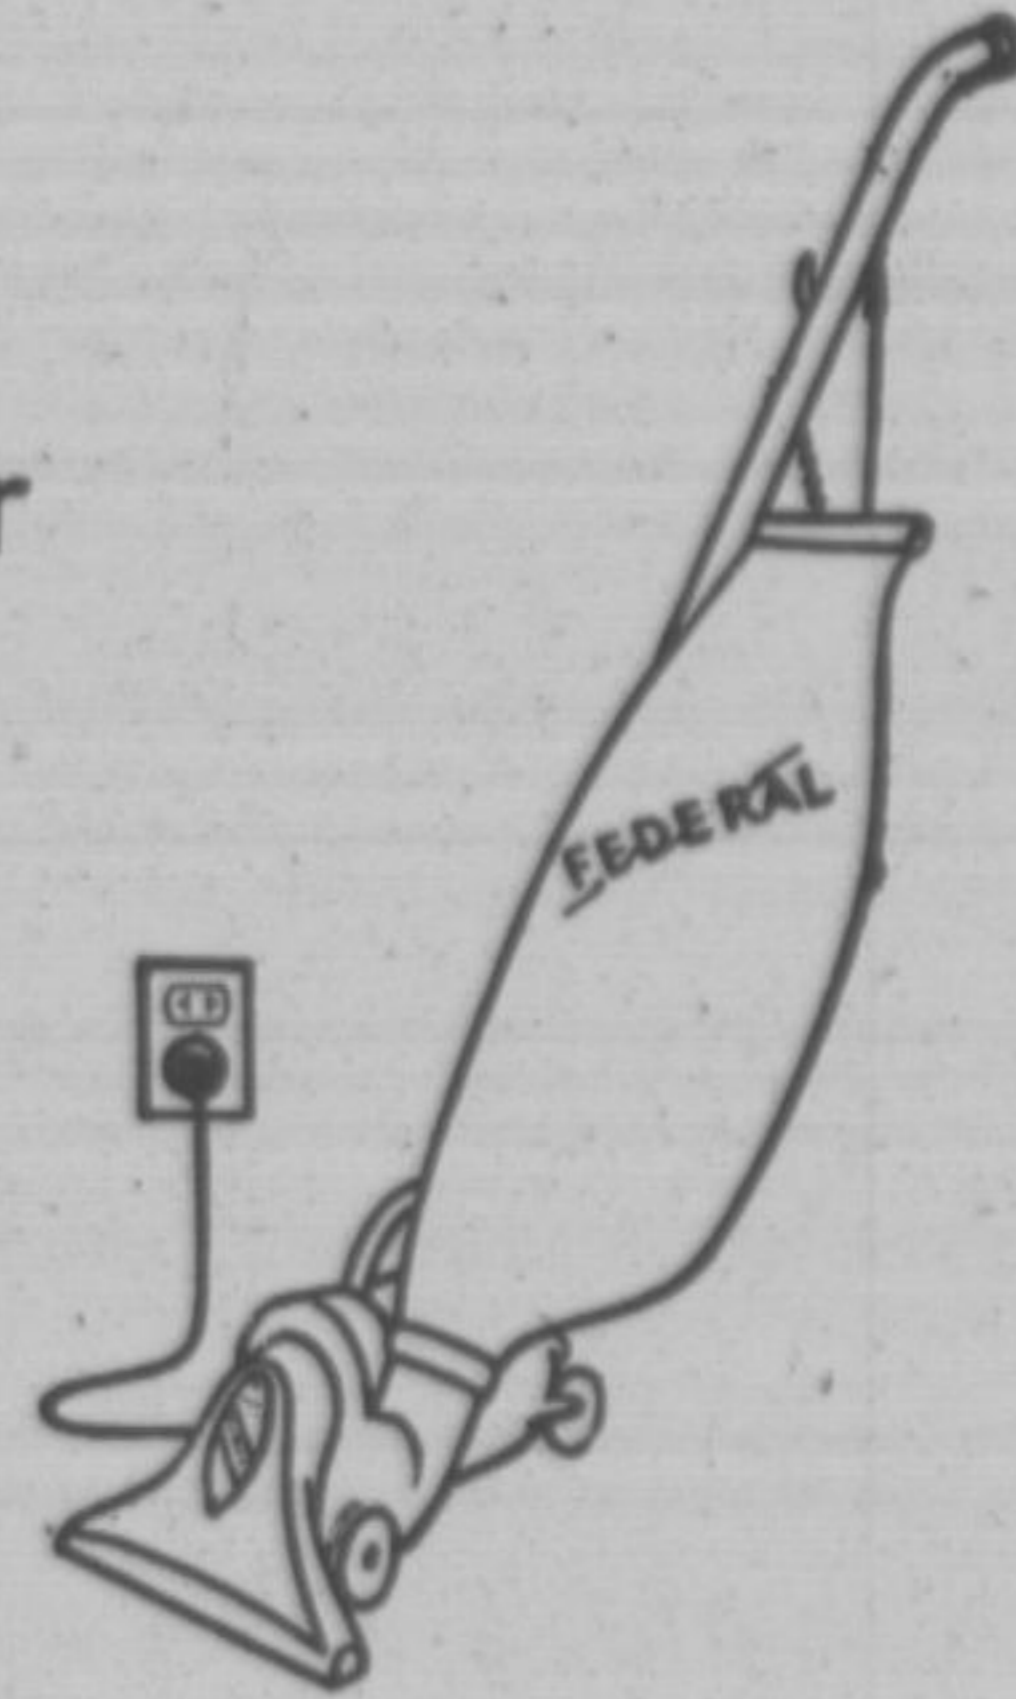

MOST HOMES NEED...

A SMALL Electric Cleaner for the little jobs

A BIG Electric Cleaner for the rugs

A full-size electric cleaner is indispensable, of course, for quick, efficient cleaning of carpets and rugs. But getting into out-of-the-way places, into cupboards and on stairways, and dusting over-stuffed furniture and draperies is just as big a job as going over the floors—and it is for this that the handy junior cleaner was designed. It weighs only a few pounds and its action is as effective as the big cleaner's.

You Can Save $3.50: When purchased with either a Federal Moto-Brush Cleaner ($49.50) or a Federal Suction-Type ($34.50), the Fedelco Jr. is specially priced at $10. Purchased separately it is $13.50.

There is a full line of electric cleaners (beginning at $24.50) at the Public Service Store and all may be purchased the "Little by Little" way.

THE RIGHT TIME

always with a Hammond Electric Clock. The kitchen model pictured is $9.75. Slightly more "Little by Little". Also boudoir and mantel models.

YOUR OLD WASHER STILL WORTH $10

applied toward the purchase of a combination Federal or Thor Electric Washing Machine and Power Ironer. The Improved Fedelco Special Washer is $99.50 cash, the Thor Washer is $99.75 cash, and Power Ironer for both is $49.50. The Washer alone or the Laundry Combination may be purchased for $2 down the "Little by Little" way.
