use an

OVEN HEAT REGULATED GAS RANGE

From the first day you use a modern, oven heat regulated gas range, cooking will be TWICE AS EASY! Every day you'll have more freedom from your kitchen, less labor in preparing meals, no exasperating "failures," more time for other household duties, extra hours for recreation, time for many things you are unable to do now because of the necessity for staying in the kitchen while foods are cooking. The heat regulator on the oven is your liberator! You can rely on it always to maintain correct oven temperatures—to watch over foods while they cook—to take your place in tending the oven.

Insulation in the oven is a new feature of modern gas ranges. For the housewife who wishes her kitchen to be cool during the warm months the insulated gas range is exactly what is needed. All the heat is retained in the oven—none escapes to increase kitchen temperatures.

Whether you want a gas range with insulation or without it—come in—or telephone and we'll send our representative to give you further facts about the remarkable advantages of the modern gas range.

A gas range extraordinary! That's the NEW Reliable gas range. Gleaming, rust proof and non-tarnishable chromium trim, full enamel finish, oven heat control and angle iron frame construction which adds years to its length of service are only a few of the advantages offered you in this remarkable gas range. Visit our store and inspect this gas range of finest workmanship!
