Teacher Secured for Dramatic Department at Deerfield-Shields

Taking Miss Comer's place next fall in the dramatics department of the Deerfield-Shields high school is Miss Elyse Rinkenberger, a graduate of the School of Speech at Northwestern university. Miss Comer is to be married this summer.

Miss Rinkenberger, who will receive her master's degree from Northwestern in June, is highly recommended by the staff there. She did graduate work in dramatics, being an assistant in the department while working for her master's degree.

She will take over all of Miss Comer's work, including senior drama, public speaking, and several courses being offered under the new curriculum. These are the reading and acting of dramatic literature, extemporaneous speaking, and debating. She will probably have an assistant.

Miss Comer has been at Deerfield-Shields four years. During that time she has had charge of public speaking, senior drama, Garrick, and all plays.

High School Musicians Hold Party and Present Gifts to the Directors

As fitting climax to one of the most successful years in the history experienced of the music department at Deerfield-Shields, a party was given by the combined organizations last Thursday evening in the English club room at the high school.

The main event of the evening was the presentation of remembrances from the various organizations to their respective teachers. Mrs. Manning was presented a purse by the orchestra; Mr. Bollé was given a handsome traveling bag by the band, and Mr. Dinkeloo received a fine Waltham watch from the Glee clubs.

Anne Frantoni was chairman of all the committees, Bob Hanmer had charge of the refreshments, Arlene Fehr of the decorations, and Edward Acomb was master of ceremonies.
