

The Highland Park Press

Plans for remodelling and enlarging the building of the North Shore Trust Company, corner Sheridan road and Central avenue have been prepared. The height of the building will be increased to three stories and the entire appearance of the exterior will be altered to make one of the handsomest business blocks in Highland Park, as shown in the artist's sketch above.

W. D. Mann is the architect.