

Objections Are Voiced to Federal Court for Rockford; Favor Chicago

At first the congressman indicated is to base suggestions on the Buckbee bill calling for a new federal court district that would make Rockford the judicial capital from what members of the Lake County Bar association think he will be forced to vote against the measure it was indicated today.

At first the congressmn indicated that he would support the bill but when he read the measure he concluded that it might be inconvenient to Lake county attorneys and litigants to go to Rockford for hearings rather than Chicago. At the best a sitting of court would be held in Lake county but once every six months, he figured.

In an interview yesterday he stated that he would decide largely on the measure after getting the opinions of attorneys and litigants who would be effected.

Attorney Claire C. Edwards, former circuit judge, took the position that the trip to Rockford would be inconvenient compared to one to Chicago.

"I left at noon for Chicago recently and was home at 3:17 o'clock in the afternoon. That hardly inconvenienced me at all. The fight to get a judicial center at Rockford is 20 years old. When Kenesaw Landis was a federal judge he always refused to go to Freeport and would hold court in Rockford instead," he declared.

Attorney Clarence W. Diver, president of the Lake County Bar association, had the following to say:

"I can speak for myself only and not for the bar association, but I would prefer Chicago as the judicial center for the circuit court."

Attorney Hervey C. Coulson said it looked like an eventual move to get a federal building for Rockford.

"I can't say that I am interested to any great extent but Chicago offers the logical center for our federal court trials," he said.

Heating Plant Should Be Inspected During Time It Is Not Used

The prudent home-owner will call during the spring or summer months to make a thorough inspection of the radiator heating plant. These are just a few of the points that a competent man will note:

Most hot water and steam boilers are fitted with regulators to control dampers. The operation of the chains and pulleys should be checked and worn parts replaced.

Sometimes the turn damper becomes loosened in the shaft to the extent that the handle on the outside of the pipe does not indicate the true position of the damper.

If the boiler door is badly warped or cracked, it should be replaced, since a door that is hard to close causes inconvenience and often results in the loss of draft as well as the inability to control the fire. Hinge pins should be examined carefully. Grates should be checked.

The mortar between the bricks of a chimney and around the smoke pipe often deteriorates to a point where it is completely eroded by the weather. This condition causes a leakage of cold air into the chimney and often interferes with proper draft.

If an inspection of the heating plant reveals excessive accumulation of flue dirt, this should be removed in the spring. If this is delayed until the end of the summer, a thin layer of corroded iron will peel off with the soot. Soot should be scraped from the smokepipe, and all ashes and refuse should be taken from the ash pit and firepot.
