Arrest Youth in Zion For Smoking; May Fight

The Zion anti-cigarette law, which was held invalid by the supreme court 16 years ago, will be again tested before that body of Francis Hurst, 19, to be tried Friday on charges of smoking a cigarette, is convicted.

"I'll carry the fight to the highest court in the land," said Lloyd Cunningham, father of Hurst's chum, and who posted a $400 cash bond following the youth's arrest yesterday, after Hurst had spent two hours in jail.

Hurst was standing on the platform at the Salem boulevard station of the North Shore line, waiting for a train. Pulling a package of cigarettes from his pocket, he lit one and took several puffs.

Policeman G. T. Miller tapped him on the sleeve. "That's against the law," he said. "You're under arrest."

Hurst was taken to the police station, and was allowed to call Cunningham, who produced bail for him.

Cheer up. More automobiles were made in the United States in April this year than in any April in our history except April, 1929. And not a single one of 'em was a Model T.

Donates Lake Villa Home for Invalided Children Is Report

Donation of a fine summer home located on Crooked Lake near Lake Villa to a board who will use it as a home for invalided and undernourished children, by Mrs. Maurice Reynolds, Mrs. William Reynolds and Mrs. W. W. Haether was announced last week. The home is to be established as a memorial to their mother, the late Mrs. C. D. Peacock, the wife of the Chicago jeweler.

The institution is to be known as the Emilie W. Peacock camp of the Children's Memorial hospital and the board in charge will be headed by Mrs. Augusta Maxwell.

Besides donating the home and spacious ground, the three women will also furnish it and maintain it.

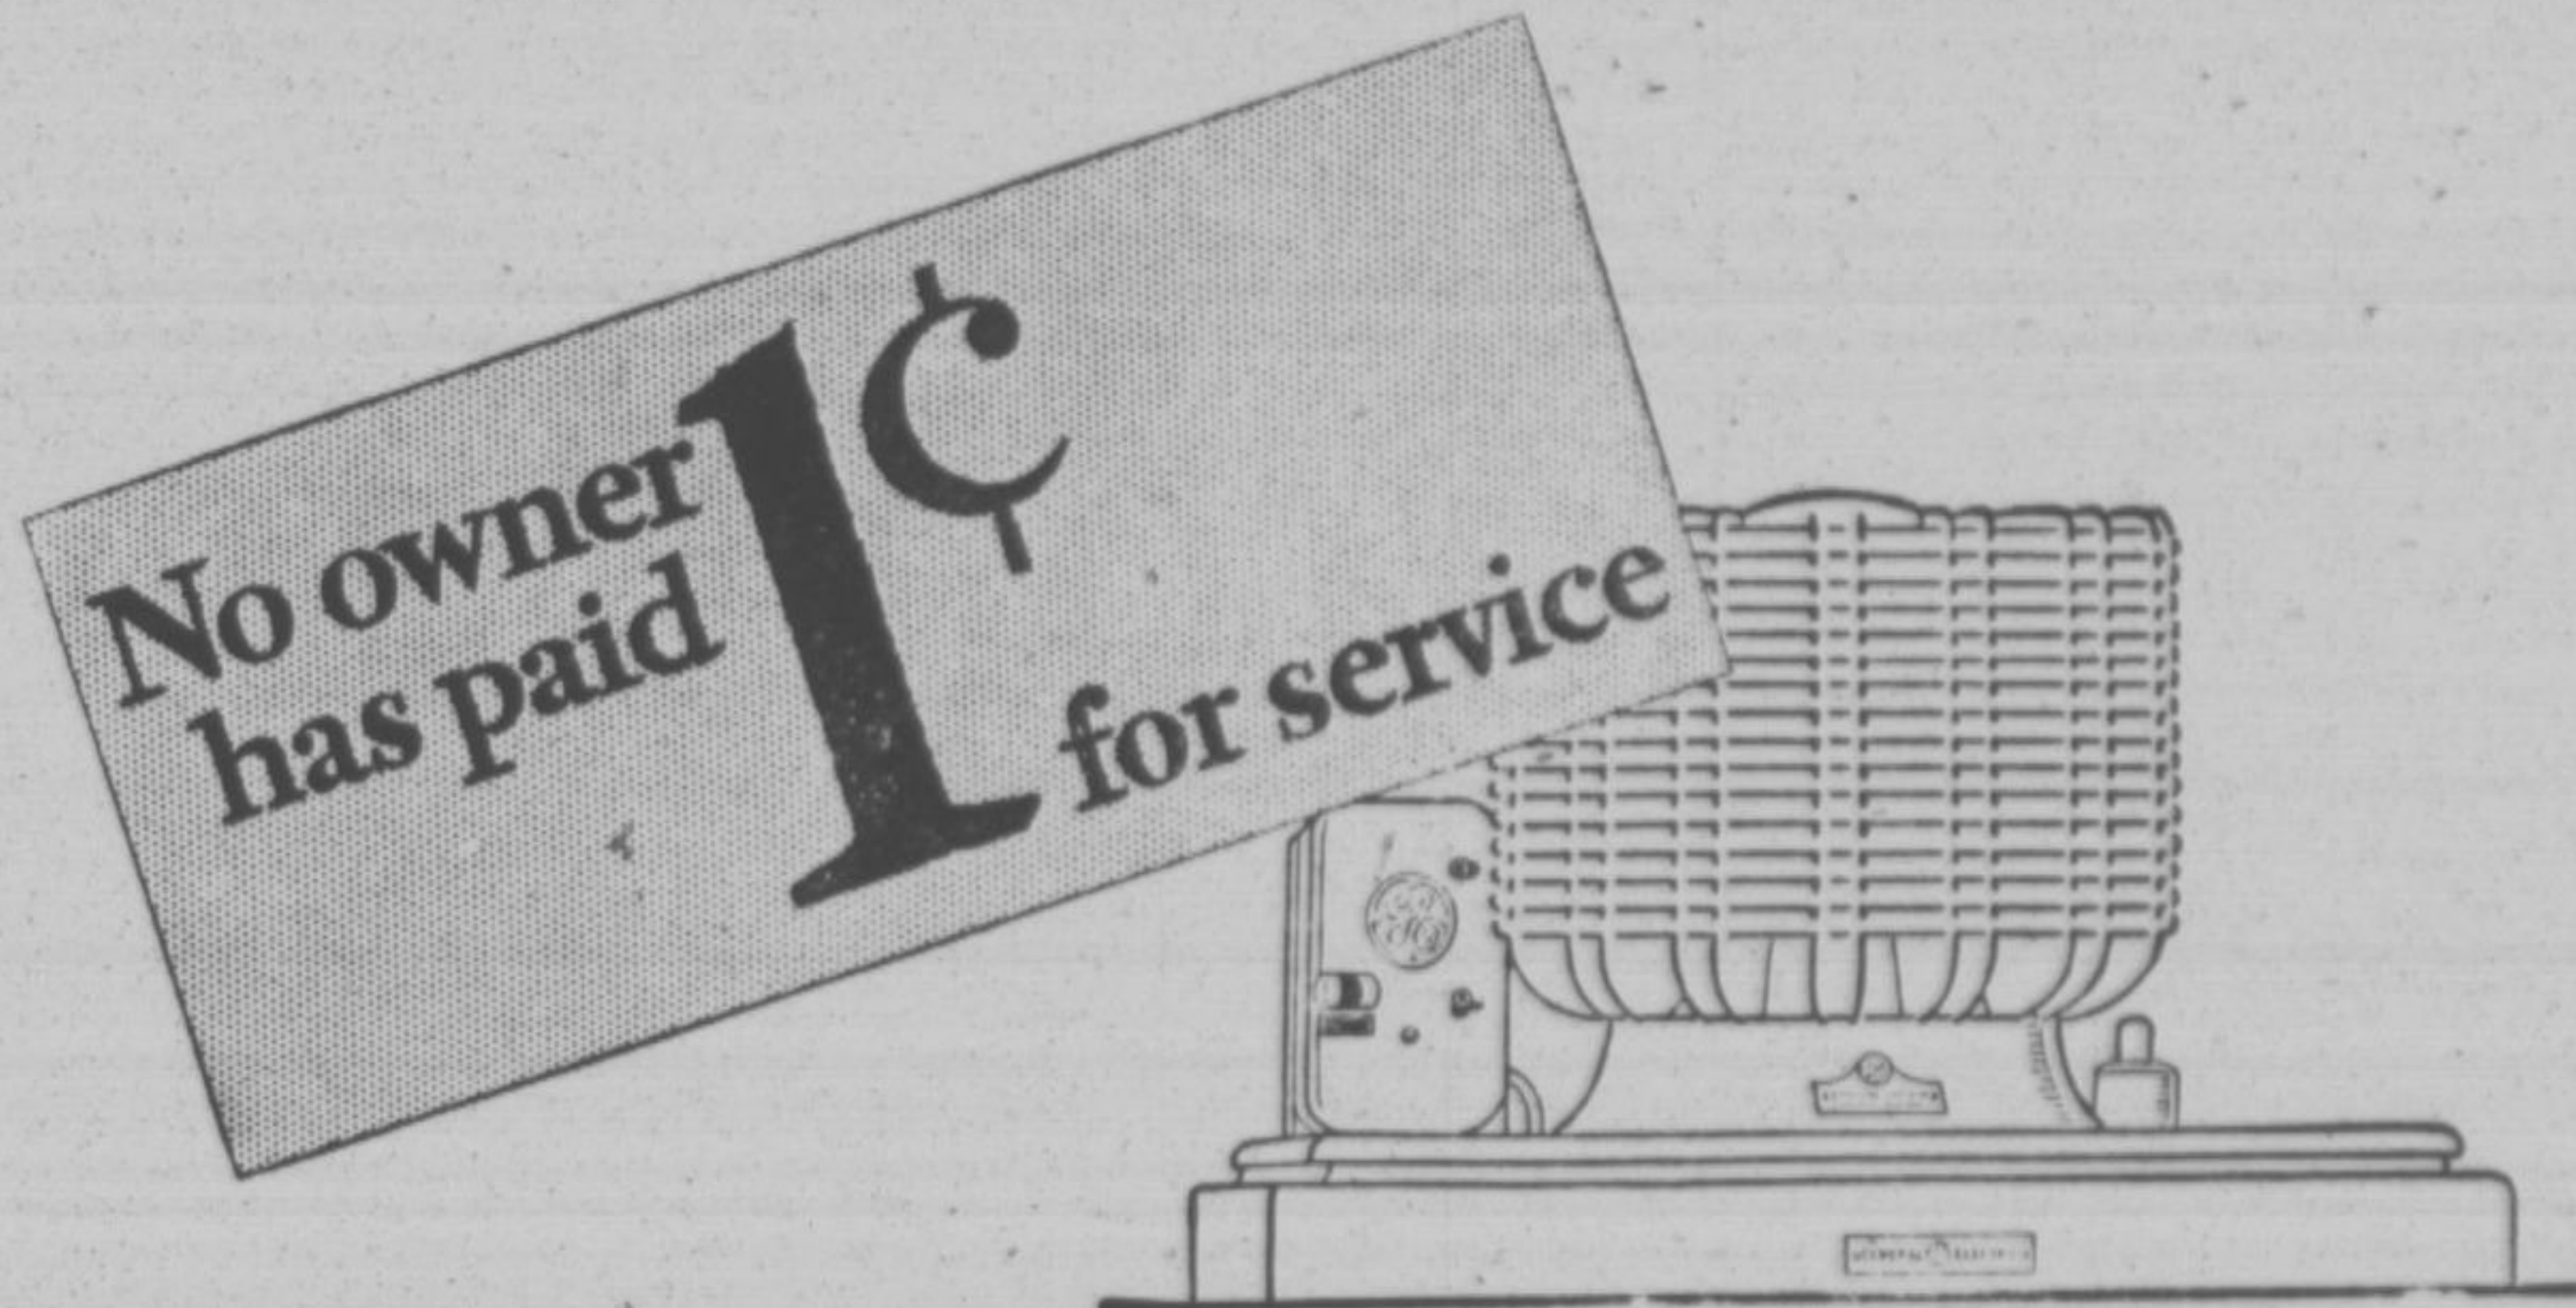

The home located in a large tract and surrounded by beautiful gardens, woods and the lake will prove an ideal spot for strengthening the little bodies of children.

Children to be housed in the large, pink stuccoed house this summer are to be chosen by the social service department of the hospital. They are to be under the expert guidance of Mrs. Janet Burgoon, a tactful, sympathetic woman with a background of training in sociology as well as with years of successful experience in handling sick and convalescent children.
