

New Freight Service on North Shore Line

A new service resulting in increased economy and convenience for small shippers has been established on the North Shore Line with inauguration of a co-operative plan of handling freight shipments at reduced rates between Chicago and Milwaukee, it was announced today by Gorman Bennett, assistant general freight agent.

Under arrangements just completed between the "Road of Service" and the North Shore Forwarding organization, shipments as low as 100 pounds may be made in flatcar-trailer equipment with all the despatch afforded shipments of 20,000 pounds or more.

Low rates are made possible by concentration of small shipments into the 20,000 pound minimum capacities required for shipments by individual ferry trucks. As in the regular ferry truck service of the North Shore Line, the shipments are placed in steel containers at point of concentration and transported under seal to destination without being touched en route. This saves the shipper the cost in time and money of two loading and un-loadings. Shipments are made overnight, giving the small shipper all the advantages formerly afforded only those making large shipments.

Antioch Woman Has Recovered All Bonds; Fraud Case Settled

Miss Alice Haynes, an elderly Antioch woman, has the $6,000 in bonds her life savings, back after several months of anxiety.

The last of the bonds which had been outstanding was returned to her attorney, George McGauhey of Runyard and Behanna. And now all charges will be dropped against E. W. Penny and E. J. Kleinman, Chicago salesmen, who induced Miss Haynes to trade her bonds for stocks which were practically worthless.

When it was discovered that the woman's stocks given in exchange for the bonds were of little value, a wide search was made. Penny and Kleinman were apprehended and released on large bail. All the bonds were traced to various business and financial organizations.

The long delay in dropping the case was due to the laxity of one Chicago firm in returning several of the bonds belonging to Miss Haynes.
