"Rogue Song" Sunday Is Fine Attraction

The talking picture debut of Lawrence Tibbett, internationally known Metropolitan Opera star, will take place at the Alcyon Theatre Sunday in the "Rogue Song" produced under the direction of Lionel Barrymore and filmed entirely in natural color. The story is based upon the operetta "Gypsy Love."

Tibbett plays an adventurous bandit, leader of a Gypsy group who roam the Caucasus mountains robbing the rich and giving to the poor much in the manner of the English Robin Hood. The picture contains a number of daring cavalry scenes for which Russian Cossacks were engaged.

Besides Tibbett's songs, the musical innovations of the production include an aria sung by Elsa Alsen, Wagnerian soprano, and songs by Wallace MacDonald, accompanied by a large male chorus.

Catherine Dale Owen is featured opposite Mr. Tibbett.

For comedy, Stan Laurel and Oliver are present as members of the band of outlaws and furnish plenty of laughs.

Others in the cast are, Nance O'Neil, Ullrich Haupt, Lionel Barrymore, and Kate Price.

The current feature attraction is George Bancroft in "Ladies Love Brutes."

"The Second Floor Mystery" starring Grant Withers and Loretta Young will be shown Saturday, Sunday, "The Rogue Song."

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Joe E. Brown, the foremost comedian of the screen, will be seen in an hilarious prize fight story, "Hold Everything," with Winnie Lightner, George Carpentier, Sally O'Neil, and Bert Roach.

"The Return of Dr. FuManchu" with Warner Oland, Neil Hamilton and Jean Arthur is coming next week Thursday and Friday.
