

I REFER YOU TO MY BANK

If you were in a deal with some strangers and they asked for references, could you say: "I refer you to my bank?"

In checking you up with the bank, they are convinced that you are reliable, of good standing and worthy of trust. Businessmen know that the banker is familiar with your financial worth, has a statement from you and that you have discussed this very deal with him.

If you lack this reliable reference, come in and get acquainted, open an account, so that you may be able to say: "I refer you to the Highland Park State Bank."
