

campfire. After a luxurious supper which consisted of cornflakes, stewed raisins and all the rest that a good breakfast should have, we went back to camp to muss up our tents for inspection. Before inspection we went down to the mess hall and enjoyed two hours of games from nine to eleven in the afternoon. As the day grew younger and younger we enjoyed a good noon meal prepared by Harry, the most important man in camp. In the very early morning just before reveille we saw an exhibition of fireworks. The day began with a "Good Morning to You" and we were soon in slumberland making preparations for another glorious day in camp.—Jim Suter, Troop 71, Libertyville.

Visitors Day in Camp

Today Camp Makajawan received with its customary good will several visitors from the north shore. Among those present are Mr. Moulton, father of Robert Moulton, Mr. and Mrs. Betak, parents of Mr. John Betak, waterfront director, Mr. Aldrich, father of Knight Aldrich, a camp J. O., Mr. Ed. Fowler, a brother of Mr. Jack Fowler, and several members of the Bersch family who are here to pay a visit to Mr. George Bersch, our quartermaster.

Electricians in Camp

The electricians have finally gotten here. If you have seen any strange glass things lying around you know the answer. The men are finishing the installation of the camp light and power system, which includes lights in headquarters, hospital, dock, and a signal system to the west dock.

FRIENDS OF SCOUTING MAKE DONATION

Mrs. Albert P. Snite of Highland Park donated some splendid books to the camp. Mrs. Snite sent these to the council headquarters where they were packed and shipped to the camp library at Camp Makajawan. These are books which belonged to her two sons Albert Jr. and John and will make a splendid addition to the library and will be enjoyed by the boys who attend camp.

Mrs. Everett L. Millard of Highland Park donated some scout uniforms which will be very much appreciated by some of the scouts who are not in a position to purchase them.

SUNDAY ISSUE OF CAMP "NEWSPAPER"

Several artists among the campers of first period turned in material today which is being posted as the Sunday supplement of the "?" During the week they will prepare more material for future Sunday issues of the camp newspaper.

Batteries for Radio

Reports from Chuck Simpson, radio operator, indicate that the camp short wave set will soon be in regular daily use. Batteries for its operation were delivered yesterday afternoon. No call letters have been assigned to the station as yet, but the license should arrive here soon according to reports from Mr. Fletcher, scoutmaster of the radio troop, at Chicago and as soon as that is here the call letters will be known and the station will be in a position to operate.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON TREASURE HUNT

"Where is 'Trail the Eagle?' 'Gee, I'm tired.' 'Aw right, I got it first.'" Such were the expressions heard during the treasure hunt conducted under Mr. Boltz' direction this afternoon. In reality it was a song treasure hunt, for it was based on the songs found in the camp song book.

The campers assembled in front of the mess hall at 3:00 p. m. to receive the first message from Mr. Blotz. It read, "There's a church in the valley by the wildwood."

By thinking a bit it became apparent that the next note could be found down by the council ring. It was found in the pulpit by Frank Appleyard, Troop 55, Glenview. The trail went on like this leading the scouts on a merry chase. Some of the members of the senior staff seemed to think that the messages were quite hard, but the Makajawan scouts are
