Deerfield

Local and Personal

Mrs. Minnie Willman spent several days last week at the home of her son, Ethan, at White Fish Bay, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving R. Rehm of 7327 Holly Court River Forest announce the marriage of their daughter, Edna, to Mr. Albert E. Paxton which took place at the Rehm residence Friday evening, July 11. Mr. and Mrs. Paxton departed after the ceremony for a trip to California and a tour of Canadian Rockies. The Rehm family formerly resided in Deerfield.

Members of the Independent Social club and their families enjoyed a picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beckman at Prairie View on Sunday. They assembled about 1 o'clock and thoroughly enjoyed a program of games including a ball game, races and many interesting and entertaining features. A pot luck picnic supper at 6 o'clock concluded a most delightful affair. This is an annual event, which the club and their families eagerly anticipate.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Strong have rented their home on Orchard street and are planning to leave shortly for New Rochelle, N. Y. where they will remain for some time.

Mrs. Allen Harder, who before her recent marriage was Anita Mitchell was the recipient of a large number of lovely gifts when she was given a miscellaneous shower at her apartment on Grand avenue last Wednesday afternoon. The thirty guests who attended enjoyed five hundred, bunco and refreshments. The five hundred prizes were awarded to Mmes. Elmer Malmquist, Leslie Whitcomb, Richard Easton, Alfred Gastfield, Webster and Hazel Scully. Mrs. Pete Harder won the bunco prize. The hostesses included Mrs. George Harder, Mrs. Clara Easton and Mrs. A. E. Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Harder and son, Melville, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Harder were guests at the Louis Harder home in Highland Park on Monday.

Louis Beckman has sold out his recreation parlor and lunch room in the Zeiss block on Waukegan road. It has been closed for a week or more.

Young Boy Almost Is Killed by Dog Last Week at Lake Resort

Joe Wallas, a 14-year-old Chicago boy staying at a summer cottage on Slocum lake, was severely bitten and narrowly escaped having his juglar vein severed last week when he was attacked by a bull dog he was trying to beat off his own dog in a fight in the lake shore.

Wallas said his own dog, a police puppy, and the bull dog, struggled together in a bitter fight, and he dashed between them to separate the battlers. The bull dog sprung at him and tore a large piece of flesh from the left side of the boys' neck.

The youth was rushed to Wauconda where a physician attended him and administered anti-tetanus serum. The physician stated that if the bite had been one inch lower, the boy's juglar vein would have been severed and he would probably have bled to death before help could be reached.

The bull dog, belonging to a neighbor, was immediately locked up and is under observation.

Highland Park Methodist Church

North-avenue at Lauretta place

Frank Davidson Hopkins, pastor

A larger congregation greeted the pastor last Sunday morning and seemed to much enjoy the service. A very pleasing feature was the beautiful solo by Mrs. Fred Okey, accompanied by her young daughter, Mary Ellen, only eleven years of age, who played with all the confidence and quality of a much older person.

Next Sunday morning the pastor will give the sixth in the series on the Parables of Jesus, which are receiving so much favorable comment, this time taking the parable of "The Tares, or the presence of evil in the world." This should prove a most interesting discourse and throw light on several problems concerning the Christian life. Mr. James Jennings will sing and Mr. Hiram Nichols will accompany and render the offertory and prelude.

Quite a number of our women drove over to Des Plaines camp grounds on Thursday to attend the Ladies' Day exercises. Special programs were given on behalf of both Missionary societies, home and foreign, and those attending were well repaid.

The Ladies' Aid meets this week Friday afternoon with Mrs. Fred Okey, the president of the society, at her home, 1521 St. Johns avenue. All the women of the church are heartily invited to attend.

Arrangements have been made for a concert by the Cotton Blossom Singers on Saturday evening, July 26, in the church. These colored singers come from the student body of Piney Woods school, "away down South" and meeting with many praises for their rendition of "spirituals" and other songs. Keep this date open, for they are well worth hearing.

Two Waukegan Boys Rescued Adrift in Lake Minus Clothing

Two Waukegan youths wholly unclothed adrift on a raft in Lake Michigan four miles from shore off North Chicago were rescued last Thursday afternoon as they were near exhaustion in their attempt to propel the heavy logs through a choppy sea with a plank for an oar.

The plight of the boys was discovered by B. J. Holt, superintendent of the North Chicago park, and Building Commissioner R. M. Sleezer, who were testing an outboard motor on the park life boat. The boys were out of sight from shore, the two men discovering them when about two miles out in the boat.

No Signal to Hoist

The lads had sighted the boat and were making frantic efforts to signal with the plank they had used as an oar. They were unable to hoist a signal as they had started on the raft without clothing and had nothing they could use for a sail or signal.

"We noticed the boys when we were out about two miles," Superintendent Holt said, "and at once headed for them. We found them very tired and frightened. They were taken into the boat and landed at a pier on the American Steel & Wire mills property from which they had started, and where they had left their clothes. They said they were from Waukegan but would not give their names. One was about 18 and the other 16 years old. Had we not had an outboard motor on the boat, it would have been a matter of two hours or more to have reached the boys rowing, as the park boat is big and heavy."
