

DEERFIELD FARM MANAGER KILLED

Martin Olson of Easton Farm
Victim of Auto Accident;
Struck by Car

Struck by a machine as he was attempting to hail a passing motorist after his own automobile had run out of gasoline, Morris Olson, 32 years old, of the Easton farm, near Deerfield, died at 6:20 o'clock Tuesday morning in the St. Francis hospital, Evanston.

The accident occurred on Waukegan road, between the Dundee road and the Lake county line, at 11 o'clock Monday night.

An inquest into the death was held Tuesday afternoon at the Evanston hospital, Deputy Coroner Donahue in charge.

Olsen was driving home at about 11 o'clock with Sven Anderson, also an Easton farm employee, when his car a Dodge sedan, refused to go any further. Examination showed that the machine's tank was empty, and Olsen decided to ask some passing motorist for a lift to the nearest gas station or roadhouse where he might obtain some gasoline.

Taken to Hospital

The Deerfield man tried to wave down passing cars, Anderson told the Cook county highway police from Morton Grove, who investigated the tragedy. Suddenly a machine operated by Kenneth Kingsford, 29, 139 Prairie avenue, Wilmette, came into sight and in some manner struck and hurled Olson to the pavement, according to the coroner.

Community Tournament Held at Sunset Valley Wednesday, August 13

Eighteen men prominent in civic activities and interested in the recreational development of Highland Park were invited to a luncheon last Wednesday by the Sunset Valley club. The luncheon was held at the clubhouse, and the invitations were issued by Mr. Edward M. Laing, president of the club. After the luncheon these men and 30 others who had not been able to attend the luncheon played in the annual community tournament. The turnout was about the same as that of last year.

There were five prizes offered for the winners in the tourney. The prizes were for blind bogey, low gross, low net, and two blind holes. The winner of the blind bogey was Elmer Skidmore, 75, and Art Olson, 79, had low gross for the 18 holes. Bert Brand 80-8-72; Wayne Hise, 82 10-72, had low net. The winner of the first blind hole was E. L. Millard with the highest score on hole 11 and Lyle Gourley won the second blind hole with the highest score on hole 12.

The men who attended the luncheon and tourney have all been tremendously interested in the development of Sunset Valley. They have seen the club grow and become one of the outstanding community courses in Chicago, and the city may well be indebted to their efforts and those of Mr. Laing.

Ravinia Artist Is on Western Painting Trip; Tells of Scenic Beauty

Tom Wilder Ravinia artist, accompanied by Mrs. Wilder, is on an extended sketching trip through the West. At present in the Puget Sound district he reports that he is struggling to record some of the grandeur of the Cascades.

"Snow still abounds here in the higher altitudes and lends snappy highlights to the rugged peaks that stand sometimes soft and hazy sometimes stark and forbidding against the continually changing skies.

"Mirror lakes and dashing mountain streams all blue and sparkling dare us to duplicate them in paint, laughing merrily at our effort as they skip by over the rocks. In the forests the giant cedars, firs, and hemlocks dwarf us into a feeling of insignificance. Towering to unbelievable heights where they have stood for centuries, they too are amused.

"A bear comes ambling along, sniffs our paint and goes on his way. A doe regards us from the trail ahead, shakes her tail and bounds off into the solitude. The forest people too, and grizzled old prospectors are curious, for many have never seen a painting, much less an artist.

"But this is a wonderful country and we are getting material both in color and subject almost unbelievable to an artist living in the flat country."

Dr. Howard Kuist at Bethany Church Sunday, August 17

Dr. Howard Tillman Kuist, who grew up in this community, will occupy the pulpit of the Bethany Evangelical church at the 11 o'clock service next Sunday morning. Many of the people in this vicinity have been keenly interested in watching Mr. Kuist climb the ladder of success in the educational world. After completing his work at Deerfield-Shields he entered Western Union college at Lemars, Iowa. Graduating from there he took post graduate work at the Biblical Seminary of New York. Later he finished the work of his doctor of philosophy degree. The Biblical Seminary of New York saw in him the qualities of an outstanding teacher and extended to him a call to head one of the departments of their great institution. He has had charge of the New Testament interpretation and languages and has been very successful in his work. About a year ago his school granted him a year's leave of absence to make it possible for him to do extended research work in European universities. Dr. Kuist has just returned from this tour of extended study and is visiting home friends and relatives of this city at present. His many Highland Park friends will welcome the opportunity of being able to hear him at Bethany church next Sunday morning.

Rev. J. H. Taylor of this city will bring the message in the evening. There will be no preaching service on the two Sundays that follow. An invitation is extended to all to attend the Barrington camp meeting on these two Sundays.

District Governor Visits H. P. Rotary Club; Gives Address

The Highland Park Rotary club at its weekly luncheon, Monday noon at the Moraine hotel, had the pleasure of being honored with a visit from Governor Norve Fultz, of the Fortieth District, who being a very able speaker, addressed the club, on Fellowship, Foreign Relations and Vocational Service. His talk was very instructive and absorbed by all members and visiting Rotarians with keen interest.

In the absence of the regular song leader, Marshall Johnson, volunteers were called for, and William Dooley came forward and conducted the singing in a very able manner. Walter Meierhoff was back after an extended automobile tour to the west. Lew Sinclair with his family has left for Lake Wawasee, Ind., where he will spend part of his vacation.

President Nicholas announced a plan on membership attendance which deeply interested all Rotarians present and will no doubt bear fruit in due time. Charley Hunter announced to the Rotarians the National Air Races to be held at Curtiss-Reynolds airport, August 23, to September 1, during which time Wednesday, August 27, has been designated as Rotary day to all Rotarians of Illinois and neighboring states. From all indications, Highland Park Rotary club will register 100 per cent at the air races. The birthday boys, Earl Gsell, Lyle Gourley, Charley Hunter and Carl Braun had the honor of donating to Sol. St. Peter, keeper of the shekels, after which the club in its customary way favored each birthday member with his favorite hymn for that occasion.
