Construction work has started on an observatory addition to the Elm Place school auditorium, and the observatory will be named for Miss Guiney, teacher of astronomy at the school for the past 25 years. The cost of the entire improvement is estimated at about $3,500. Funds were raised by subscriptions from students and alumni of the school.

The six-inch reflector telescope was constructed by Allan Clarke & Son of Cambridge, Mass., and it is provided with a clock-work mechanism to maintain its position according to the rotation of the earth. It has been shipped and will be in place by the time the school opens next month, Superintendent Jesse Smith expects.

The plans for the observatory were prepared by W. D. Mann, Highland Park architect, and the construction work is being done by Morris DeBona, Highland Park contractor.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS MEETINGS

Fall Sessions to Begin in September; Urging Vote for Women on Juries

Meeting of the Highland Park League of Women Voters will begin in September when active work will also start on the November elections, and the women-on-juries campaign. As usual, the meetings will be held on the third Wednesday of the month, and will be preceded by luncheon. The place of meeting however has been changed to the Y. W. C. A.

Among the many whole-hearted endorsements of women on juries by leading judges and attorneys, is that of Judge Robert H. Day of the Supreme court of Ohio, who spoke before the Illinois League of Women Voters at Evanston, after an investigation of the subject in his own state. He stated that the average woman makes fully as good a juror as the average man, and that her presence in the jury box has made the consensus of the 12 jurors more nearly right than it ever was before. The text of Judge Day's speech follows in part:

Excerpts from Speech

"Since the advent of the service of women upon the jury, I firmly believe that the woman juror has improved the atmosphere of the court. Women are getting a new outlook upon life, a view into business complications of the commercial world. A few weeks of jury service is a great education both for the average man and woman, and this respite from the drudgery of household tasks makes her a broader-minded and a better citizen. She brings to the jury box a new point of view.

"The greatest bulwarks of society are the homes, the schools, and the courts. In two of these, woman plays

Bad Fire in Highwood Early Saturday Ruins Cafe; Eight Flee Flames

Eight persons, a man and wife and their six children, were forced to flee clad only in night dress early Saturday morning when a fire gutted a combination cafe and residential building at 335 Waukegan avenue, Highwood. The fire, discovered at 2:30 o'clock, caused damage estimated at $4,000. Its origin was undetermined.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Berti, who lived with their six children upstairs in the building, escaped just before the flames reached their rooms. They were unhurt.

The Highwood and Highland Park fire departments finally subdued the flames after their having almost ruined the brick building. The blaze started in Bruno's Cafe, located on the first floor, as nearly as could be ascertained, firemen reported. The cafe, unprotected by insurance, was burned through by the fire, and all equipment was ruined.

The building is owned by Greco brothers, Highwood realtors, and is partly covered by insurance, it was reported.
