

An entire exhibition case devoted chiefly to many and varied species of rare Birds of Paradise, and related birds, is one of the features of the department of zoology at Field Museum of Natural History.

The formation of stalactites and stalagmites is illustrated in an exhibit in the department of geology at the Field Museum of Natural History. Specimens from the caves in various parts of the world are shown.

As an aid to those who wish to learn how to distinguish genuine mahogany, panels of the three principal varieties are on exhibition in Stanley Field Hall at Field Museum of Natural History.

Bowlers Attention!

The new Bowling Alleys are now open. Completely refinished and with much new equipment you will find these alleys as fast and fine as any available anywhere. Mr. Hans Nelson, who has been in this business for over 22 years, will manage the New Bowling Alleys and will gladly give instruction to any who desire it.

9:15—Address, "Go Teach," Dr. Paul Vieth.

Prominent Speakers

Miss Baker who appears on the program is the president of the National School of Education at Evanston. She is a great leader of Christian thought, a writer of several outstanding books, a specialist in children's work.

Rev. Schloerb needs no introduction, having been a pastor at the Evangelical church here in Highland Park about 10 years ago. At present Mr. Schloerb is pastor of the Hyde park Baptist church. He is looked upon as an authority and a leader of youth.

Dr. Vieth is a pioneer in the field of Religious Education. He is chairman of the Board of Editors of the Journal of Religious Education. He has written several books of note and is an outstanding man in this vital field of church activity. He has made a special study of adult training in the Church school. His messages will be very worth while.

The committees in charge of this convention extend a very cordial invitation to every one to attend as many of these sessions as possible. Old and young are invited to the luncheon and dinner. It will be keenly appreciated if those who plan to be present at these meals, will kindly send in their registrations to H. P. 3707, H. P. 699 or H. P. 3522. This will greatly aid those who are preparing for the same.

Allmen Henkel Wins Air Race Sunday

"One of the concluding features of the afternoon at the Shambaugh airport Sunday was an air race, with four flyers competing. Allmen P. Henkel, Purdue student, won first; Ernest Baker, city, second, and Joe Vail, Madison, third. The course about twenty miles long, was marked by the airport beacon, the elevator to the south and a tree to the east.

"An added feature was an air 'dog fight' between Vail and Henkel, in which their planes in close pursuit of each other, were put through many antics."

Duration of Love

It takes about three years for the love of the average man to run its course unless his wife has something new to offer him from time to time.—Woman's Home Companion.
