The feature of the weekly luncheon session of the Highland Park Rotary club, held Monday noon in the Moraine hotel, was an interesting illustrated talk by Ralph Walker, a member of the Aurora club. Mr. Walker described interestingly and vividly a trip which he made last summer into the northern section of Canada and showed motion pictures of wild animals in their native habitat. First Ossoli Lecture At Highland Park Club Oct. 16; Five in Series

Returning for her fourth season, Mrs. Anthony French Merrill will give the first of her delightful series of book talks at the Highland Park club on Thursday, October 16, at 10:30 a.m.

This charming lecturer, with her fluent and witty interpretations of all that is worth knowing in the contemporary field of fiction and polite letters, is a particular favorite of those cultivated but busy club women of Highland Park whose limited leisure necessitates a rigorous exclusion of everything except the few choicest books that one simply must read in order to keep up with the literate. Her program this season, for the five Thursdays beginning October 16, evidently covers a wide and enticing range:

October 16, Truth Stranger Than Fiction.

October 23, Omnibus Books.

October 30, Books of Escape and Diversion.

November 6, A Significant Play,—And Three Playrights.

November 13, Five Hopeful Books.

Miss Gale's subject will be "Tendency in Modern Literature" with readings from her own books.

This first meeting will be a luncheon meeting, luncheon being served at 1 o'clock, after which Miss Gale will speak.

The luncheon will be a friendly informal affair with two hostesses at each table of eight. It is hoped many old, new, and prospective members will meet at this time to renew old acquaintances and make new ones.

Members and guests who are unable to attend the luncheon will be welcome to come to the Village house at 2:30 p.m. the time of the regular meeting, to hear Miss Gale.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made to the house chairman, Mrs. Claburn Jones, H. P. 2228 not later than Monday, October 6.

DEERFIELD-SHIELDS FIGHTING L. F. HIGH

Board Starts Suit Questioning Legality of Creation of School District

Deerfield-Shields high school board, through its attorney, on Tuesday started quo warranto proceedings against the new Lake Forest community high school board to discover by what right the territory transferred to the Lake Forest school was taken from the Deerfield-Shields district, created last spring under an amendment to the township high school act.

It is understood that both sides plan to carry the litigation to the state supreme court to obtain a final decision in the matter before the contention is settled. Fred J. Held, president of the Lake Forest high school board declared that this was their intention and stated that Lake Forest is determined to have a high school of its own and that Deerfield-Shields is objecting because the creation of the Lake Forest district will reduce Deerfield's tax resources.

Lake Forest Unanimous

He said that Lake Forest wants a high school because the Deerfield-Shields high school is crowded and because attendance there is a hardship to Lake Forest students. The territory included in the Lake Forest district as created comprises only the property within the corporate limits
