

LAKE FOREST LOSES IN H. SCHOOL SUIT

board, who took the position that the Lake Forest residents have been paying 47 per cent of the taxes for the support of the Deerfield school while only about 20 of the 1,200 pupils are from Lake Forest.

Judge Shurtleff took the position that the act of the legislature which authorizes communities of 3,000 people to establish their own high schools is unconstitutional because it apparently would permit a community of less than 3,000 in an isolated district from having a school.

Deerfield's Attorney Comments

Attorney Locke in commenting on the case stated Wednesday that the law in the premises does not give equal opportunity to people similarly situated elsewhere, and as it is a state statute, it should apply with equal effect anywhere in the state. As Lake Forest is practically the only community where the law applies, the attorney holds, it is in effect special legislation and an imposition on other communities; also the fact that the population figures on which creation of a high school district may be effected vary, according to Mr. Locke, leaves another loop hole in the law.

Will Continue Fight

In Lake Forest the general sentiment is that despite this initial reverse, the project of a local high school must go forward. If the law is found by the Supreme court to be unconstitutional, the Lake Forest supporters of the plan advocate prompt effort to secure the passing of a law which will stand the test of the courts.

Highland Park Scout Troop No. 30 Attend Illinois-Iowa Game

Twenty-one members of troop 30, Highland Park, left early Saturday morning for Champaign, Ill., to witness the Illinois-Iowa football game, as guests of the university. They were driven down in four cars, the following being kind enough to take them and bring them home. Mr. and Mrs. S. A. St. Peter, Mr. Walter Cope and Scoutmaster John Udell and Mrs. Udell.

They had drill at the Armory at eleven o'clock and at 1:30 p. m. marched to the football field. 165 troops participated and it was an inspiring and wonderful sight to see so many troops marching in formation with the United States flags in the lead and the troop flags following. They all arrived home safe and sound, tired, but happy and all reported a wonderful time. Many thanks is due their scoutmaster, Mr. Udell, and the chairman of the troop committee, Mr. St. Peter for arranging this outing for them.

Fred Reichardt, an Eagle scout of troop 33, is now working with troop 30 in the capacity of junior assistant scoutmaster. Fred is a fine addition to the leadership of the troop as he has had splendid training in every phase of the scout work.

CIRCUIT THEATRE PLANS FOR SEASON

11 separate scenes, the construction work is a real problem. All scenery for the play is to be constructed and painted in the studio of the Circuit theatre under the guidance of the technical director, who will use volunteer help whenever practical.

The cast for this first play of the year is practically complete, and will contain several who are well known on the north shore for their parts in amateur dramatics. For the second play, "The Racket," the task is not easy, for the cast contains 19 men and but one woman. Men who want to act in this typical he-man play are requested to call the studio and get acquainted.

Third Play

For the third play, "A Bit O' Love," the casting becomes even more of a problem. This very fine play is laid in rural England, and its best production demands that the actors cultivate an English accent and diction which is not easy to acquire. With the north shore's supply of capable amateurs, however, the Circuit theatre is confident of an excellent company to play the piece, and in this respect, the managers wish this early to broadcast a call for children whose parents want for them the training and the opportunity which is part of the Circuit theatre role. "A Bit O' Love" has six children's parts, one of which, that of six-year-old Tibby Garland, is of major importance in the play. Juvenile actors, therefore, are being sought everywhere by the managers of the organization.

Four Good Plays

The Circuit theatre season offers four good, interesting plays, all new to the Chicago and north shore territory, and all to be presented by the best of amateurs under professional direction.

Mrs. Constant C. Hopkins is chairman for Highland Park, and Mrs. Harold Ambler for Lake Forest. They will be glad to give out information about the Circuit theatre and its plays in their respective communities and will arrange for those who wish to take part to meet the managers of the organization with participation in mind.

Televox, Electrical Man, to be Shown at High School, Oct. 24

Televox, the world-famed electrical man—to engineers the year's greatest marvel—to laymen the year's greatest mystery is being brought to Deerfield-Shields high school on Oct. 24.

The actions of this amazing automation will be demonstrated by F. A. Wheeler, an employee of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, who made Televox.

Mr. Wheeler will show that Televox is so highly trained that it will answer the telephone, listen to its master's voice and then execute his commands. He will order it to light and turn off an electric light, start and stop an electric fan and vacuum cleaner, and to perform various other startling operations.

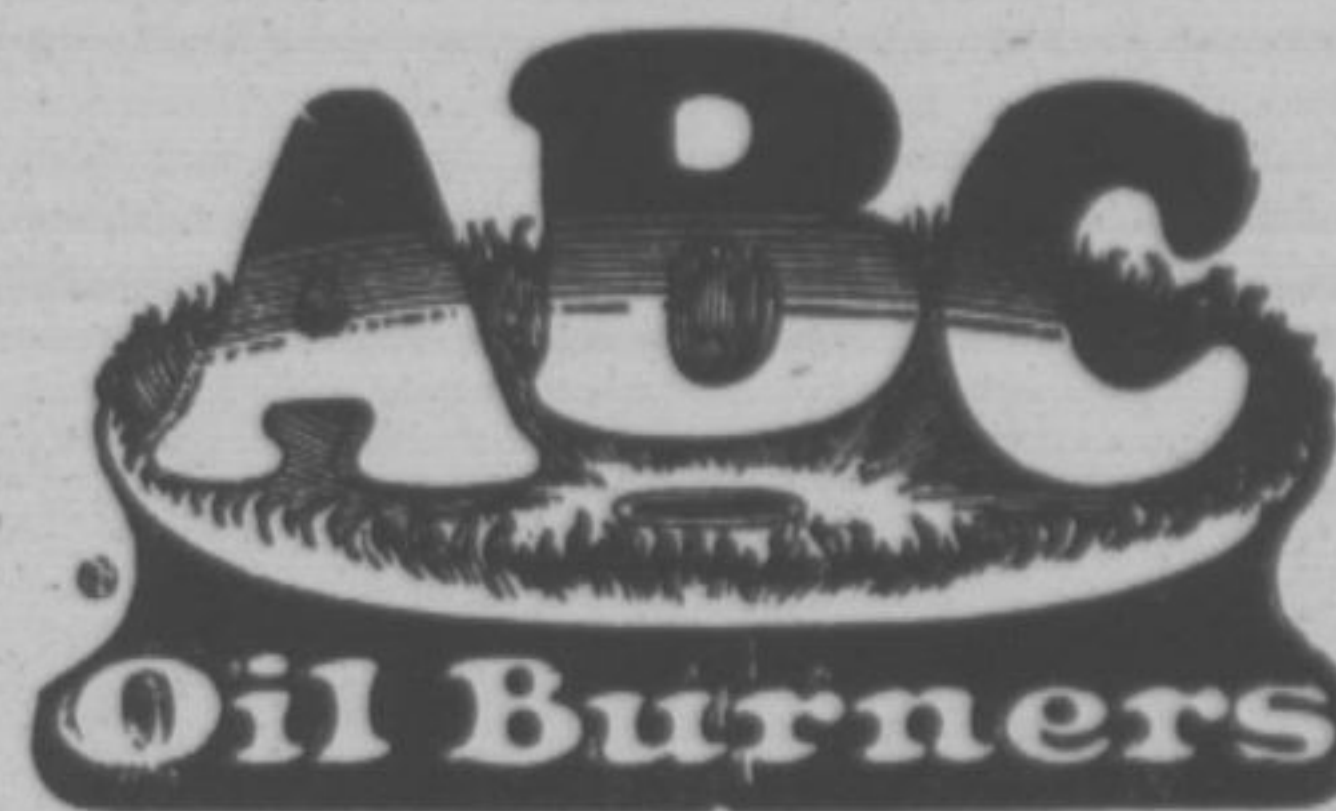

This uncanny human device is far from beautiful. It has veins of copper and bones of porcelain, with binding posts for ears and hard rubber for skin. It obeys its master, however, more faithfully than many modern servants.

Books Are Wanted for High Seas Library

The American Merchant Marine Library association of Chicago, through a local committee are making a request for books for the Public library of the High Seas. Book week is to be held October 20-25 and it is hoped that many will contribute their used novels, biography, history, travel, text books, dictionaries and National Geographic Magazines. In the Merchant Marine, Lighthouses or the Coast Guard is a man who would like to read. Will you help him to get reading material?

A barrel is to be placed in the public library where any local people who wish to contribute books may place their contribution. A large response is hoped for in Highland Park.
