Star of "Common Clay" at Deerpath Theatre Not Social Butterfly

Constance Bennett, who appears in the role of leading woman in the striking talking picture, "Common Clay," at the Deerpath theatre, Lake Forest, Oct. 19 and 20, began her career as a social butterfly, according to reports from Hollywood, and a contest between maternal plans and talent began, which resulted in a victory for talent. Constance was not intrigued by the world of society, and how she entered the movies is thus told:

Shortly after Constance's debut, however, she encountered Samuel Goldwyn at one of the big Equity Balls. Goldwyn, looking for a girl to fill the "flapper" role in "Cytherea," which he was then making, suggested she take a test for the part. The test was highly successful and, despite family objections, Constance accepted the role, scoring a decided hit.

That decided matters. Objections or not, she was going to be a film player; her dramatic inheritance was too strong.

In pursuance of this ambition she went to Hollywood where she scored in several productions, including "The Goose Hangs High," "Code of the West," "Marriage" and "The Goose Woman," until her big success in "Sally, Irene and Mary."

Favor Civil Service Plan for Police and Firemen; of this City

Unanimous endorsement of a plan to place police and fire departments of Highland Park under civil service was voiced yesterday by Police Chief Edward Hoskins. The decision may put up to the voters at the spring election, it is expected. In the interim John Munro, corporation counsel, is at work to determine what procedure is necessary to bring about the change.

Petition for civil service was filed with the city council and referred for consideration at Monday's meeting. In urging this action Chief Moroney said:

"There is no question of the desirability of a pension fund. It assures an income to a man, not only when he retires, but if he is injured in the line of duty, and it will also provide for his widow if he is killed."

The chief pointed out that no men are eligible for pension now and none will be for several years. For this reason he urged that the fund be started immediately.
